POLICE HUNT WOMEN IN SLAYING MYSTERY

Seek Suspects In Strange Murder of Los Angeles Diamond Broker

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Los Angeles police today were tracing down a dozen clues in the mysterious murder last night of Harry I. Katz, wealthy musician, diamond broker and owner of the Ambassador apartments, 618 South New Hampshire street. Katz was lured to the door of the bachelor quarters at the apartment house at 5:50 o'clock and shot to death.

Today two letters found in Katz apartment and signed by "That Bad Woman, Rosita," were considered the most valuable pieces of information in the hands of the police. Two women are being sought. Both are known to have been on friendly terms with Katz.

Hunt Two Suspects

One man, believed to have had business dealings with the dead man and whose name is thought to be Reynolds, and a second whose description officers have, are also being hunted.

Katz was shot with a .32-calibre automatic revolver. The gun was found later in front of his rooms. He lived long enough to pursue his assassin through a hall of the apartment house, only to fall at the feet of Mrs. Eunice Henderson, the apartment house manager.

No one in the house saw the person fire the fatal shot. Several tenants said they saw a man flee from the building just after the shot was fired, however.

Mystery Phone Call

A mysterious telephone call made after Katz was dead, from a down-town hotel by a woman, is also bieng traced by the police. That the family of Katz

REVOLTS IN SPAIN ARE SERIOUS

Scores Arrested by Military Officials; Two Rebels Executed In Vera

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Penetrating the wall of censorship the Spanish authorities have raised, reports indicated today that the outbreaks in Vera province were more serious than Spanish officials would admit.

Forty arrests have been made in Madrid, including Marcelino Domingo, formerly a republican deputy who left that party to subscribe to more radical doctrines. Soviet funds were behind the Spanish plotters, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail. Great quantities of arms and munitions were smuggled over the Spanish border and stored in Barcelona, the dispatch stated.

The authorities are losing no time in meting out military justice to the offenders. With two convicted rebels already executed, the royal commissioners have asked the death penalty for seven more of the twenty-six arrested in Vera province. They are being tried before a military court at Pomplona.

Life Sentences

Life sentences were asked for the others. The twenty-seventh man arrested died of his wounds. The sentence passed by the court will not be made known until approved by the general commanding the province.

Equally prompt justice will be given all future offenders against the directory, Admiral the Marquis de Magaz, vice-president of the directory, assured his hearers in a speech at the inaugural ceremonies, over which King Alphonso presided.

Magaz declared it was "lese majeste" to start internal fights while the chief of our government and the young men of Spain are wrestling with the enemy on the battlefields of Morocco."

Many U.S. War Dead Still Lie Buried In Cemeteries Abroad

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—In American cemeteries in France, Belgium and England 30,447 American soldiers and sailors who gave their lives in the World War are now buried, according to the annual report of the Quatermaster-General of the Army, Major-General William H. Hart, made public today.

The number of bodies returned from overseas during the year was thirty-four, making a total of 46,259 which have been brought for burial in the homeland. During the year 231 identifications of graves of unknown dead were made.

The report also reveals that 397,859 bodies are buried in eighty-three national cemeteries in this country, 244,443 known and 153,416 unknown.

WHEELS OF INDUSTRY STILLED

New York Observes Silence Of Two Minutes, Tribute To War Dead

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—New York bowed its head in silence for two full minutes today in tribute to its world war dead.

During the two minutes the city's wheels of activity were halted while "taps" were broadcasted by all the metropolitan radio stations.

The stock exchange suspended its business during the interval and in many Wall street offices there were observances of Armistice day.

Special church services were held throughout the city.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Facing the east, 250 buglers, forming a line across the city from the bay to the ocean, at the stroke of noon today sounded "taps" as part of the city's observance of Armistice day. At 10:30 o'clock this morning the California palace of the Legion of Honor, the Spreckels' memorial in Lincoln park, was dedicated with special exercises. This afternoon at Crissey field an aerial circus was given as a benefit, and tonight a note of celebration was to complete the day in a grand ball at the city auditorium.

Politician Accused of Murder While Drunk

EVERETT, Wash., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Percy B. Tyler, 45, is dead here today, while her husband, who ran for Congress on the farmor-labor ticket in 1922, was being held in the county jail, accused of shooting her with a rifle last night while intoxicated. Tyler fled the scene of the shooting, telling his brother-in-law, T. R. Spangler, that he was on his way to the Snohomish river, where his body would be found. Sheriff James McCulloch of Snohomish county overtook him and lodged him in jail.

Mrs. Tyler made an unsuccessful attempt to defend herself, drawing a pistol and aiming it at her husband as she fell, fatally wounded. She was unable to pull the trigger.

2 Killed, 2 Hurt When Freight Hits L. A. Auto

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Two persons were killed and two seriously injured here today when an automobile in which they were riding was struck at a crossing by a freight train. The dead are C. M. Sutton and Mrs. Dorothy Matassa and the injured Lola Hattinger and T. J. Matassa, all of Los Angeles. Matassa, the husband of the dead woman, told police they were returning from an all-night dance.

Cross Charges Rescind Sir Charles' Divorce

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The high court of justice today rescinded the divorce decree granted to Sir Charles Frederick Higham from Mrs. Jessie Stuart MacIntosh Simpson Higham October 15, 1923. Sir Charles obtained the divorce by telling of his wife's alleged relations with two other men. It was dissolved on counter charges brought in a petition by the the king's proctor.

PLAN FLEET MANEUVER IN MARCH

Eighty Planes to Accompany Warships to Hawaiian Island, Report

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 11.—When the United States fleet starts for Honolulu next March for its winter maneuvers an air fleet of approximately eighty planes will accompany it, it was learned here today in navy circles.

The purpose of taking the aircraft is to test many theoretical problems that have never been tried between the planes and the surface fleet in major battle practice. It also was learned that the planes and ships would wait in Hawaiian waters for six months.

May Take Dirigibles

Captain S. E. Moses, commander of the fleet air force, revealed that the dirigibles Shenandoah and Los Angeles, or one of these, might be taken to the mid-Pacific islands and used in the maneuvers as well as the aircraft carrier Langley, which will arrive here next months.

The commander also stated that a flight of the CS-type seaplanes is being proposed to Honolulu, although there is nothing definite at this time on the flight.

Woman Temperance Leader Is Jailed

BANGOR, Maine, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Laura Patten, temperance leader of Machias, was sentenced to two months in jail by Federal Judge Peters when she pleaded guilty with her husband and a dozen other men to charges connecting them with a liquor smuggling conspiracy, for which seventy-four indictments have been issued. Federal officers say the rum scandal will shake Maine society. Mrs. Patten has two children. Her husband received a six months' sentence.

Mangled Body of Man Found; Dead 2 Months

RENO, Nev., Nov. 11.—Efforts were being made today to identify the body of a man found five miles northwest of here. One empty cartridge in a revolver showed the cause of death. He had been dead, authorities said, for more than two months and the body had been badly mangled by coyotes. His dress and equipment indicated he had been a prospector.

CONCLUDE TRAINING

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Luis Firpo and Charley Weinert concluded training this afternoon for their twelve-round bout at New York tomorrow night.

WREATH LAID ON TOMB BY COOLIDGE

President Visits Sepulchre Of Unknown Soldier In Arlington Cemetery

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President Coolidge today led a victorious and peaceful nation in observance of the signing of the Armistice that brought peace six years ago. The president motored to Arlington National cemetery and laid a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier, America's symbol of her heroic dead.

The president was accompanied by many government officials, but the ceremony lacked the pomp and display of other observances because of the absence of hundreds of federal employes. On the eve of the observance President Coolidge declined to declare today a holiday on the ground that he lacked authority, after a ruling on the question had been given him by Comptroller General McCarl.

Flowers Banked High

Scores of people made pilgrimages to the altar of America's phantom hosts throughout the day, and the tomb of that unknown warrior who died on the fields of France upholding American ideals was banked high with flowers and wreaths as silent testimonials of the American people.

In the name of the grandes blesses de la face (Society of Wounded in the Face), Captain Roger Brunschwig, French army officer, was to lay one of the many wreaths. Captain Emmanuel Lombardi, assistant military attache of the French embassy, and representatives of the disabled American war veterans, disabled emergency officers of the World war, veterans of foreign wars, American Legion, and military Order of the World war, accompanied him.

Honor Wilson

Colonel John T. Axton, chief of chaplains, and Rabbi Morris S. Lazaron of Baltimore, who officiated at the funeral services of the unknown soldier, will go to the tomb late this afternoon and lay a wreath in accordance with the custom they have established of visiting the tomb each anniversary. Gold star war mothers, the American Legionnaires of Washington, and numerous other organizations will leave fresh wreaths at the marble sepulchre.

Woodrow Wilson, America's war president, will also be honored today with memorial services at the National Cathedral where he lies buried, and memorial services were to be held around the peace cross in the cathedral grounds.

BOARD IS CLOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The board of trade was closed today in observance of Armistice day.

Legion Commander Pleads For Disabled Veterans

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11.—A plea for the disabled veteran was made here today in the Armistice day message of James A. Drain, commander of the American Legion. The message reads:

"On the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, six years ago today, the order to 'cease firing' brought to a close the greatest war the world had ever known.

"The sigh of relief that went up around the world attested eloquently to the feelings of peoples toward the most abominable of all legalized business—killing.

"Armistice day always should be a reminder of that bloodiest war, it should be dedicated each year to the message of world peace, the great goal which we all seek.

"Permanent world peace rests upon international justice, and without that justice there will always be war. Justice must be automatic and it will depend upon the erection of some form of world court.

"The people of the United States are prone to forget, but on this day they should give a thought for those wrecks for whom the armistice has never come."

ASKS PRINCE TO LEAVE BELGIUM

Spanish Don, Expelled From Paris Last Month, Told To Depart Quick

BRUSSELS, Nov. 11.—Prince Don Luis Ferdinand of Spain, mysteriously expelled from Paris last month, was requested today to leave Belgium immediately. His effort to comply with the request by sailing for England was thwarted when the British embassy refused to vise his passports.

Prince Ferdinand of Spain was summarily requested by the Paris prefect of police to leave France last month after a report that the crown prince of Spain had been attacked by robbers while on a tour of adventure, incognito, through the Montmartre, the tenderloin of Paris.

The Parisian police later denied that the crown prince had been involved in the case, and Prince Ferdinand, who was reported to have been the young nobleman involved, was asked to leave the country. Police would not explain the order.

King Alphonso of Spain immediately ordered the return of royal decorations conferred on the prince and removed the title of infante from Ferdinand's name.

Three Bandits Hold Up, Kill, Rob Storekeeper

RUTH, Nev., Oct. 11.—Sheriff's posses were combing the surrounding hills today for three bandits who entered the crowded store of Ben Bergman last night and made away with several thousand dollars, after shooting and killing Bergman when he failed to heed their command to open the cash drawer. The unmasked bandits lined up seventeen unarmed customers in the store while they robbed the merchant. Pay-day night at local mines insured the big haul.

Court Asked to Stop Wilbur Scrapping Ship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur was today served with an order from the District of Columbia supreme court requiring him to show cause on Friday why he should not be restrained from destroying the battleship Washington, one of the vessels scheduled for scrapping under the naval limitation treaty. The Washington is en route to the Virginia capes to serve as a target for naval gunners.

More Rainfall Remote Weather Bureau Hints

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Chances for additional rainfall this week in Los Angeles and vicinity were remote, weather bureau officials said today, although a northern storm may extend this far south before Saturday.

Hospital Employe Dies When Hit by Auto

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Struck by an automobile while crossing a street here today, Joseph McNamara received injuries which caused his death. McNamara was a hospital employe.

FASCISM IS DISRUPTED IN ROME

Two Members of Mussolini's Cabinet Seek Release As Strife Spreads

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Italy's fascist cabinet is threatened with disruption, according to information from Rome received in political circles here, as the result of the friction between fascisti and former service men, in which the latter charge they were the victims of wanton attacks during the black shirts' celebration recently.

Two members of Premier Mussolini's cabinet have offered their resignations but the fascisti leader has staved off the trouble by advising Minister of the Interior Federsoni to withdraw his resignation to save the cabinet and refusing to accept the resignation of Minister of War Di Giorgio.

Asks Reform

Mussolini advised Di Giorgio to retain his post until the question of army reform comes up in parliament, when he will be obliged to resign.

Federsoni, in complying with his premier's request, proposed to the cabinet that a complete reform of fascism be undertaken, a step that Mussolini refused to consider.

Report Condition of Mrs. Harding Is Worse

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Warren G. Harding, widow of the late president, "had a poor night" last night, according to Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, who issued a bulletin about 11 a. m.

"Mrs. Harding had a poor night," it said. "She feels weak and exhausted this morning. Her condition is not so good."

100,000 School Pupils In L.A. Armistice Parade

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—More than 100,000 school children took part in Los Angeles' Armistice day program today. Throughout the city the wheels of business and industry stopped for two minutes at 11 o'clock this morning in a "silent prayer" in memory of America's war dead.

Woman Held on Bigamy Charge by L. A. Police

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11—Mrs. Alfred Shuck was held here today on a bigamy charge, accused of marrying Ed Acorn and Jesse Staton without being legally separated from either Shuck or Acorn.

Dead Body of L.A. Man Is Found Near Tracks

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—A man whose body was found near the railway tracks at Rivera today, was murdered, according to police who investigated. The body was partially identified as that of James J. Cox of Los Angeles.

LIQUOR TRUCK SEIZED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—One man was arrested and an automobile truck containing 103 cases of imported liquors was seized today by a federal prohibition officer here.

BIG PARADE IS FEATURE OF CELEBRATION HERE IN HONOR OF ARMISTICE DAY

Representatives of Various Organizations Take Part in Procession; Impressive Sight Is Presented By Marchers

Memories of that "day of days" six years ago, when the order was relayed up and down the line to "cease firing," which brought to a close more than four years of bitter fighting between the forces of the allies and their common enemy—Germany; and the recollections of how the tension of war was relieved and released by joyous multitudes throughout the world, were recalled today in Glendale by the Armistice day parade held under the auspices of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion.

More than 1200 persons were in the parade, which started at Lexington drive and Brand boulevard and solemnly coursed its way south on Brand boulevard to Elk street, east on Elk street to Louise street, and north on Louise street to Harvard street, where the marchers disbanded and gathered in front of the Harvard High school to listen attentively to the address of the day delivered by Mattison B. Jones.

Intermingled with the olive drab of the United States army uniforms appeared the vivid blue of the navy lads as the marchers swung along with a miltant step, swung along with a militant step. Many of the veterans who had outgrown their uniforms since the days of the war, marched in "civies."

At Head of Column

At the head of the column rode five of Glendale's motorcycle officers, followed by the grand marshal of the day, John D. Fraser, chief of police and a former colonel. The official flag of Glendale fluttered in the breeze as it was borne near the head of the column.

The bugle and drum corps of Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion, organized less than two weeks ago, and directed by K. F. Butler, appeared in full uniform, complete even to the steel helmets that played such an important part in the war.

Parade Sets Record

Rounds of applause greeted the veterans of the Civil war, the members of the G. A. R. unit riding in automobiles behind the contingent of American Legion members. The veterans of the Spanish war, some marching in the uniform which marked that engagement, were next in the line, while the members of the Red Cross and the American Legion rode in automobiles.

The parade was the largest demonstration ever staged in Glendale, and nearly an hour was consumed in passing any one point. Organizations were limited to representations of twenty, thus making the units uniform.

Fraser Is Marshal

Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, a colonel in the late war, was grand marshal of the day. His aides were J. W. Everington and Colonel Hanigan, U. S. army. E. E. McWain, adjutant of post No. 127, the American Legion, was adjutant of the day.

The American Legion, with the uniformed men marching in front, was led by Joseph A. Wilson, commander of the local post, and W. W. Wariner, in charge of section No. 1. Then came members of the General N. P. Banks post, G. A. R., riding in automobiles, with Commander T. C. Fuller in

DECRIES WAR SPIRIT OF NATIONS

Value of Peace Throughout Entire World Told by Mattison B. Jones

In the main address of the day given at Harvard High school field following the Armistice day parade, Mattison B. Jones drew a vivid contrast between war and peace—war and the spirit of war, as exemplified in the Arc de Triomphe erected by Napoleon at Paris after his glorious victories; and peace, typified in the Palace of Peace at The Hague, where the permanent court of international justice and the court of arbitration sit.

"In the shadow of the Arc de Triomphe lies buried the "unknown soldier," his human life sacrificed on the altar of war, ignimenial, in that his very identity has been lost in the fury and rage of the battle," he said. "On the walls of the towering Arc are the names of Napoleon and his generals and a list of the victories they had won.

"How different at The Hague, where from the portals of the gorgeous palace there comes nothing to indicate warfare, but everything to call the nations of the globe to peace."

Recalls Battlefields

Mr. Jones recounted scenes he had viewed on the battlefields during his visit to Europe last May. He praised the patriotism of the American Legion and lauded the organization's support of the constitution.

He concluded with an appeal for peace. "Peace has victories no less than war. Let this great nation engage in movements to give us these glorious victories of peace," he said.

At Harvard High school the marchers lined up in front of the main entrance of the building and about the flag-pole in the front lawn. While uniformed men stood at salute and the hundreds of pedestrians bared their heads, the high school band played the "Star Spangled Banner." Joseph A. Wilson, Legion commander, in a brief address

Entire List Of Evening News Subscribers To Be Published; Big Cash Prizes Are Announced

On January 1, 1925, the entire list of subscribers of The Glendale Evening News and their addresses will be published alphabetically. The list of names proposed to be published at that time will occupy from ten to fifteen pages in the regular edition of The Evening News.

The work of segregating and compiling the list has been commenced in the circulation department. Only the names of persons who are bona fide subscribers will be allowed to appear in this list. The laws governing United States government postoffice statements will permit none other.

Every city is judged from the general make-up and community support given to its daily newspaper. For this very reason it is important for Glendale to present to the public the largest possible list of subscribers through The Evening News on next January 1.

There is not any person who is anxious to see his own name in print, but we are all anxious to see eight thousand names published upon that occasion. Many copies of that edition which, by the way, will be designated as the New Year's Number of The Evening News, will go to our friends in the middle west and east, and what can serve as more favorable publicity for our fair city?

The aid of every citizen and of every organization is asked to make this effort a marked success.

A cash prize of $100 is offered to the service club, order, association, fraternal society or organization of any kind with a membership of fifty or more having the highest percentage of its membership as bona fide subscribers to The Glendale Evening News.

A cash prize of $50 will be given to the organization holding second place upon like conditions.

A cash prize of $100 is offered to the church which has the highest percentage of its membership as bona fide subscribers of The Evening News. The second prize is $50 on same conditions.

A suitable and beautiful printed banner will be awarded to the state which has the largest number of representatives as residents of Glendale which has the greatest percentage of its representatives bona fide subscribers to The Glendale Evening News.

December 20, 1924, is the date upon which all lists are to be checked and verified.

For further particulars inquire at the office of The Evening News, 139 South Brand boulevard. Telephone Glendale 4000.

LATEST NEWS

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO VISIT CHICAGO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—President Coolidge will leave Washington on December 3 to attend the national livestock show at Chicago, it was announced at the White House today.

T. D. ROBINSON FOR SECRETARY OF NAVY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The assistant secretaryship of the navy is to remain in the Roosevelt family, it appeared here today. Theodore Douglas Robinson, a nephew of the former president, has virtually been decided upon for the post. He will succeed Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, his cousin, who resigned two months ago in order to run for the governorship of New York, for which office he was defeated by Governor Al Smith.

PREMIER MUSSOLINI IN FASCISM DEFENSE

ROME, Nov. 11.—Premier Benito Mussolini came to the defense of Fascism today in a speech before the majority members of the Chamber of Deputies. His speech was very conciliatory in tone, evidently designed to bring together as far as possible the factions created by friction between Fascisti and former service men. "Fascism does not tolerate illegal acts," the premier declared. "The government has demonstrated this by prosecuting 5305 Fascisti for penal offenses. It has convicted and imprisoned 845 Fascisti."

WAR HORSES NEWCOMERS IN SENATE

Capitol's Upper House To See Oldtimers Seated In Next Congress

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Among the new crop of senators elected in Tuesday's landslide are two old war horses of the G. O. P. —Former Governor Chas. S. Deneen, of Illinois, and General T. Coleman Dupont, of the Wilmington Duponts. Governor Deneen skidded back in 1912 when as one of the "seven little governors" he urged Col. Theodore Roosevelt to contest the Republican nomination against William Howard Taft. When Roosevelt took the "call of the people" so seriously as to become a third party candidate, Charlie Deneen figured the progressive water was a little too chilly for him and drifted gracefully, but surely, back under the protecting ears of the Grand Old Party elephant.

Some of the other "elects of last Tuesday are Brand Newton Washington. There is for instance Mr. Pine of Oklahoma—the first of the big oil operators to get a chance at a senatorial toga. There is Rice W. Means, of Colorado, cited three times for gallantry in the world war and recommended for the congressional medal of honor. And there is Governor McMaster, of South Dakota, former newsboy.

Senatorial Variety

There was plenty of variety to this senatorial election. It illustrates anew the possibilities of selection by the people, rather than the old way of choosing senators in the state legislatures.

Senator-Elect Deneen of Illinois, is what might be called a quiet worker—in any event he will seem quiet as the successor of Medill McCormick, who was anything but that. When occasion demands, however, Deneen can spellbind with the best of them. He merely doesn't believe in keeping din at the source. He is a regular of the regulars and although many of his associates followed Roosevelt out of the party and then back in again, Deneen is glad that his record is clear and clean. The stalwarts of the senate have gained a grand prize in the new man from Illinois, one who will go along.

Delaware's Choice

General T. Coleman Dupont, of Delaware, may be termed almost a dilettante in politics. He likes to play at the game but doesn't take it too seriously. He has for some time been the Republican national committeeman from his state but at the committee meetings he would rather be showing some of the committee ladies astounding tricks with cards and other sleight-of-hand than discussing the serious affairs of the Grand Old Party.

General Dupont's hobby is buying and building big hotels. He owns one here in Washington and already has his suite prepared for the next six years. He occupied it a short time ago, but somebody slipped a cog in Delaware in 1922 and T. Coleman got left in the shuffle. There were many predictions that his defeat had cast him down and out. T. Coleman took no such view of the matter. He ran again this year and won in brilliant style.

Rooter for Legion

Rice Means, of Denver, elected to fill a "short term" and therefore due to take his seat the first Monday in December, was born in Missouri, but drifted out to the Rocky Mountains when a lad of 13. He will add to the new soldier vote in the senate, being a staunch believer in the American Legion.

Means is a veteran of the Philippine campaign of the Spanish-American war and a survivor of the Meuse-Argonne offensive of the World war. In the Spanish war he was a second and first lieutenant. In the world conflict he rose to the rank of Lieut.-Colonel. Although a lawyer, Means has been dabbling in politics for the past twenty-two years. His favorite sport is hunting.

West Virginia Choice

Guy D. Goff, who comes to Washington as a new senator from West Virginia, is by no means a stranger to the national capitol. He served for three years under Harry M. Daugherty as an assistant attorney-general of the United States. Mr. Goff bears a distinguished West Virginia name, but his political opponents tried to defeat him on the ground that he had lived but little if any in the state. He is a son of the late Judge Nathan Goff.

Governor W. H. McMaster, who succeeded in winning the toga in South Dakota after a bitter struggle was once a newsboy in Sioux City, Iowa. Later however, he went to Beloit college in Wisconsin, and eventually drifted into the banking business. He has always been known as something of a radical. Although running as a Republican he did not declare for President Coolidge until very late in the campaign. He has had a political organization of his own and has not been a part of the recognized state machine of the G. O. P. He says he will affiliate himself with whatever may be left of the "farm bloc" when he gets to Washington.

First "Oil" Senator

W. B. Pine, senator-elect from Oklahoma, is not a typical oil millionaire. Hard work is his creed. He has no hobbies other than to see the "black gold" flow from mother earth. He belongs to no lodges, never went to college. Born on an Illinois farm forty-five years ago he grew up to be a Republican and a Methodist. Being a demon for work, he has never played much. He doesn't like golf and doesn't expect to be led astray in that respect when he gets to Washington. His home is at Okmulgee.

A new "near senator" is Daniel F. Steck, of Ottumwa, Iowa, who appeared on first returns to have defeated Smith Brookhart, and who may yet prove to be a winner through contest. He is another soldier in politics, having enlisted in the world war as a private and been mustered out as a captain.

Taps!

All honor to the dead who gave their all to keep America free! Today, Armistice day, they are being given tributes throughout the nation and on the high seas. All honor is due the nation's dead.

BANKS REPORT BIG JUMP IN BUSINESS

Marked Upward Trend Seen By Pacific Southwest Trust Official

A marked and determined upward trend since November 4 has been noted in banking circles in lGendale, according to George W. Thomas, assistant manager of the Brand boulevard branch Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings bank. Mr. Thomas said today activity at his bank since election has increased remarkably and has been particularly noticeable.

Natural rush of business on account of the first of the month and several bank holidays, Mr. Thomas does not believe is wholly responsible for this increase. Business in the escrow department of the bank, where more than twice as many real estate deals have been recorded as usual, has been the best for some time, he stated.

Confidence Restored

Mr. Thomas attributed the renewed activity to the fact that election is over and confidence of the public at large has been restored with the return of Calvin Coolidge to the White House.

R. F. Kitterman, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings bank, said although it was too early to accurately calculate the effect of the election on business conditions, there has been noticeably increased activity during the past week.

Tells Appreciation of Chapter for The News

Appreciation for the reading of a paper by Miss Katherine V. Sinks, of The Glendale Evening News staff, before the members of the General Richard Gridley chapter, D. A. R., on November 5, is expressed by Hazel White, corresponding secretary, in the following letter to A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Evening News. She says:

"In behalf of the General Richard Gridley chapter, D. A. R., I wish to tell you how very much we enjoyed the paper Miss Katherine V. Sinks read to us on November 5. We appreciate her kindness in giving us of her time and feel that the readers of The Glendale Evening News would enjoy her paper on 'The First Thanksgiving' as much as we did, and we would like to ask you to give them the opportunity of reading it. We also wish to thank you for the generous support The News has given our organization."

Program Is Planned For Meeting At Church

An unusual program has been arranged for the prayer meeting service at the Glendale Presbyterian church tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, with Rev. W. E. Edmonds in charge. A social half hour is planned following the service.

Predicts Battle On Income Tax Publicity

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon anticipated an attempt to repeal the publicity features of the 1924 income tax laws will be made when Congress convenes in December, it was announced at the treasury department. Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the treasury department to recommend repeal of the publicity features, it was stated, and thousands of protests have been registered with the treasury. Treasury officials said it is highly probable an amendment would be offered abolishing the publicity features.

Dirigible Now Officially Accepted By U. S. Navy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur in the presence of high naval officers, signed an official order accepting the German built dirigible ZR-3. This order releases the German government from any further responsibility for the ship. At the navy department it was said no date has been set for the commissioning of the vessel, but the ceremony will be held at Lakehurst in the very near future.

WOMEN SHOW 'EM HOW TO VOTE

Past Election Proves Beyond Doubt, Fair Sex Can Exercise Ballot

By L. C. OWEN
Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—At least two popular beliefs regarding women's exercise of the ballot were proved fallacious throughout the Far West in the presidential election. Femininity, it was shown, takes more pride in voting and provides less election slackers than does the stronger sex. Also the supposedly discerning individual who advised us that wives always voted the way their lords and masters told 'em, is shown to be all wrong.

The upset of the popular belief that women had never developed a over-enthusiastic bent towards exercising the right of franchise is found in the results in at least three Pacific coast states. Here in California, where approximately a million and a quarter people went to the polls—incidentally the largest outpouring in the state's history—68 per cent, according to authoritative estimates, were women.

In Plain English

In plain English, for every man that cast a ballot—the same male of the species who all along has told us that if it were not for his faithful performance of his franchise duties the government would go to pot—there were two women who did likewise. Maybe the wholehearted manner in which femininity flocked to the ballot boxes here was just an appreciation of the fact that California was one of the pioneers in giving them the right of equal suffrage, but reports of similarly heavy heavy women's votes cast in Oregon and Washington would indicate otherwise.

Apropos of the oft-heard assertion that the rank and file of wives vote as their male halves dictate, such stuff must go into the scrap heap, along with the aspersions of certain persons to the contrary. If there is any doubt there are dozens of cases to prove it, while it can be testified by election boards right here in San Francisco—one of them is a matter of police record.

Husbands Would Help

Numerous husbands, it developed accompanied their wives to the polls, with the evident intention of showing them how to mark their ballots. But the women folk, it likewise developed, are quite capable of doing their own ballot marking. The instance which got into the police records, but in which no arrests were made, was typical of them all.

In this case, friend husband not only insisted on telling his helpmate how to vote, but insisted on accompanying her into the curtained booth to see that his political views were faithfully followed. The wife objected, and the election officials backed her up. The law in such cases was with the wife and the election officials, for it prohibits more than one person from occupying a voting booth at one time. The husband, however, was insistent, and deed the election officials—until the police came and told him to wait outside.

Later, when the wife had demonstrated the freedom of political thought to her heart's content, she greeted her husband with the declaration:

I Told You So

"There! I told you I'd vote as I pleased."

The husband muttered something which sounded to eavesdroppers like "Fool women" and they went their way still arguing. Marital felicity may still be a little strained in that same household, but one woman at least demonstrated her spirit at the polls.

In Los Angeles a woman with a broken leg spent more than $40 for a taxi to take her to the polls—but lost her right of franchise because, after hours of argument, election officers would not let her mark her ballot outside and her injuries prevented her from going inside the polls.

Six Mile Hike to Vote

Over in San Leandro, on the Oakland side of San Francisco bay, a seventy-two-year-old woman walked six miles to cast her ballot.

"I did not get to vote at the two previous presidential elections because I was ill—but I'm going to vote this time," she told the election officials. "It's every woman's business to vote."

Recorded in California's voting were the ballots of eight centenarians. Six of them were women. Not even age it seems can deter the female of the species from demonstrating that the right of suffrage to them is a prideful thing and that insofar as feminine vote slackers is concerned—they just ain't.

Issues Injunction On Dismantling Warship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—William B. Shearer, New York naval expert, has asked for an injunction in the district supreme court to prevent Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy, from destroying the battleship Washington, one of the vessels to be scrapped under the Washington arms conference treaty. Justice Wilse issued a restraining order and ordered Wilbur to appear Friday to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

FLOOD CONTROL BODY TO APPEAR BEFORE BOARD

PHONE PREFIX PREDICTED FOR CITY

City's Growth Necessitates Move, Manager Fred Deal Tells Evening News

Glendale is to have another telephone "prefix" within a year, if the present rate of growth continues, and before 1925 has faded into history, local residents may be saying: "Give me Verdugo 2071" or "Brand 6203," when they want to make a call.

This information was disclosed by Fred Deal, manager of the Glendale exchange, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., whose three story building at 125 South Brand boulevard recently has been more than doubled in size.

There now are 7050 telephones in service within the Glendale city limits, according to records in Mr. Deal's office, an increase of 1527 stations since January 1, 1924, when 5523 stations were in service.

Recently two sections were added to the giant switchboard where sixty-three "hello" girls work, making a total of thirty-nine positions now operating. The board is now equipped to serve 9999 customers, states Mr. Deal, and when the ten thousandth telephone is installed in Glendale, it will have to have some other prefix than "Glendale," as the boards are operated in units of 9999 stations.

Long before this ten thousandth customer actually makes his appearance, however, another prefix

Commercial Students In Get-Together Party

On last Saturday night, Glendale Commercial school gave its annual party for the present and past students and their friends. About 150 were present. The rooms at 224½ South Brand were tastefully decorated with Halloween trimmings.

Those who desired came in costume and prizes were awarded for the best. Prize for the most comic costume was given to Miss Eleanor Collins and for the most elaborate to Miss Ruth Swanson. Others who had attractive costumes were the Misses Blatt, Viall and Underwood and Mr. Wright. The judges were Miss Jenkins, Mr. Ludford and Mr. Gwyther. Lewis Spielberger's radio furnished entertainment. Games and dancing were also a part of the program. It was a joyous reunion.

Entertainment committee was composed of Misses Collins, Viall, Dana, O'Mealy, Swanson and Mr. McCleskey; refreshment committee of the Misses Blatt, Winchester, Ayers, Mrs. Burt, Mrs. Meaglia, and Mr. Spencer; decoration committee, Mrs. Gwyther, Misses Hanson, Jessup, Enyart, Messrs. Rhodes and Spielberger; reception committee, Mrs. Burdine, Mrs. Ludford, Mrs. Davenport, the Misses Chauvin, Truscott, and Messrs. Wright and Page.

Louisiana Sugar Crop Feels Drought Effects

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—Louisiana sugar cane crop has been cut by drought to about 100,000 tons or one-third normal. Growers, however, feel that there is less likelihood now of a cut in the tariff on Cuban sugar, which they feel would be fatal to their industry. In consequence, some sugar parishes normally Democratic gave Coolidge a large vote.

Home ice-makers that freeze a two-pound block in ten minutes have been perfected.

DOCTORS ON INSPECTION OF CLINIC

Dr. Harrower's Institution In Glendale Praised by Prominent Physicians

Prominent physicians from other cities gathered last night with Glendale medical men and friends of Dr. Henry R. Harrower, in the auditorium of his world-known institute at 920 East Broadway, to signalize the opening of the Harrower Foundation Clinic on Belmont street, just south of Broadway and adjoining the Harrower Laboratory.

The exercises were featured by addresses of greeting and welcome from Mayor Spencer Robinson and W. E. Hewitt, president of the chamber of commerce. E. G. Fulton spoke for the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, telling the audience of Dr. Harrower's munificence to this institution and wishing him success in the work of the new clinic.

The high light of the occasion, for Dr. Harrower, was the presentation to him by his employes of an engrossed parchment, bearing the signatures of 105 of his co-workers and carrying the following words:

Tribute By Workers

"On the occasion of the opening of the Harrower Foundation Clinic, when another of the ideals of its founder, Dr. Henry R. Harrower, has attained beautiful consummation, his associates in the carrying out of his life work offer him their sincere congratulations;

TEACHERS OF CITY ARE HONORED

Annual Reception Held at Harvard High School by P.-T. A. Federation

Renewing for another year the spirit of co-operation and friendship existing between Glendale parents and teachers, the annual reception for teachers was given last night at the Harvard High school by Glendale federation, Parent-Teacher associations. In spite of threatening weather there were more than 350 teachers and school patrons in attendance for the program and informal social hour.

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of the federation; Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, and George U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union High school, sat on the stage of the auditorium, where the program was given.

Greetings from the federation were given by Mrs. Spradling, who spoke highly of the co-operation existing between local parents and teachers. Mr. White and Mr. Moyse spoke in the same vein of gratification of the work being accomplished by the P.-T. A. Both announced National Education Week and urged school patrons to visit the schools during the week.

Novelty Program

The general committee arranging for the reception included Mrs. R. N. Stryker, chairman, and Mesdames Arthur Franklin, J. A. Grant and L. D. Torrey.

Mrs. Torrey, program chairman of the federation, announced the program, which was: Readings by Mrs. Max Lynn Green; vocal numbers by Mrs. Helen McDade, accompanied by Mr. McDade; eccentric dance by Eleanor Marek and Arienne McDade, pupils of Pearl Keller.

Mrs. Grant, courtesy chairman of the federation, assisted by the courtesy chairmen of the various associations, arranged the cafeteria for the social hour. Each school had a special table, decorated with flowers and the school banner. About these tables the delegations from the school gathered. The presidents of the associations were hostesses at the tables.

Antioch's Celery Crop Will Total 1,800 Cars

ANTIOCH, Cal., Nov. 11.—Nearly 1800 carloads of celery will have been shipped from here by the close of the season, according to an estimate by Antioch shippers. In the next few weeks a large crew will work at waterfront wharves, where the delta crop has been brought for shipment east.

Sole Leather Demands Big, Prices Are Higher

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—There is strong demand for sole leather here and prices are higher. There is a scarcity of heavy leathers of all descriptions. The market is firm on a basis of 44c to 46c a pound for heavy backs and 40c to 42c for light backs.

Moving picture and radio apparatus are to be the features of the Madrid electrical show in December.

EISTEDDFOD TO MEET SATURDAY

Regional Conference In City To Be Attended by Many Outstanding Figures

Plans are being made for the Regional Eisteddfod conference to be held in Glendale Saturday afternoon and night of this week.

A hundred or more outstanding leaders in music, art and drama are expected to be present, representing all the communities of Southern California.

The first meeting will be an open session to be held at 3 p. m. in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. This is to be followed by a dinner at 6 p. m., to which all interested in the eisteddfod movement are invited. The price of the dinner is $1 per plate and reservations should be made by calling R. Ernest Tucker, Glendale 3070.

Splendid Program

A splendid program is being arranged for the dinner hour by a special committee. Mrs. Charles H. Toll will preside.

The following members are the committee of arrangements which will meet this afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse:

Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. Roy Ballagh, Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, Mrs. Max Lynn Green, Mrs. H. C. Vandewater, J. Arthur Myers, R. Ernest Tucker.

First Sugar Shipment From Louisiana Made

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11.—The first sugar from the 1924 Louisiana crop reached here this week consisting of 150 barrels of yellow clarifieds. It brought 7⅛ cents a pound. This is considered good in view of the fact that plantation granulated is being offered in advance for $7.20 or 30 points under standard granulated.

Insurance Companies Put Ban on Bonfires

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Fire insurance companies are making a strenuous campaign to prevent lighting of bonfires in the streets on holidays, and will ask the mayor to issue a proclamation concerning it. There were 129 fire alarms turned in election night from this cause.

An electric locomotive that uses oil for its fuel has been used recently in the Manhattan freight yards of the New York Central railroad.

MISSING MAN DEAD, WIFE BELIEVES

Woman Waits With Friends In Verdugo City for Mate of 2 Months

With no word from her husband, Charles Winnagle, since his mysterious disappearance over a week ago, Mrs. Nida Winnagle remained unshaken today in her belief that Winnagle has been murdered in some lonely canyon. She scoffed at the theory advanced by deputy sheriffs that the missing man might still be alive.

In her second report to Captain William Bright and Deputy Sheriff Walter J. Hunter, yesterday, Mrs. Winnagle said she met her husband in Detroit several months ago. Shortly before her marriage to him, September 29 last, she said she inherited large mining properties by the will of the late Nelson Main, wealthy Denver mining man.

After her marriage, she told the officers, she signed the inheritance over to Winnagle, who employed the Detroit law firm of

C. C. COMMITTEE TO ASK CHANGE IN PRESENT PLAN

Permanent Improvement for Verdugo Canyon Instead of Riprap Will Be Sought as Protection Against Heavy Losses

The flood control committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce will go before the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county Wednesday morning and seek a reconsideration of plans for flood control in Sycamore and Verdugo canyons embodying the expenditure of $300,000. Most particularly will the committee urge that the plan to "rip-rap" a narrow channel through Verdugo canyon be abandoned, and that instead, permanent improvement with two 20-foot cement roadways and a cemented channel in the center to carry off flood waters, be installed.

Likewise, the Glendale City Council will be asked to take immediate steps to provide equipment for emergency flood control work and establish a central station for storing such equipment.

Three definite steps toward increased protection from flood waters from canyons above the city were decided upon at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night, at which time members of the flood control committee appeared before the board and made recommendations which will be followed out by the chamber.

Substitute Plan

J. C. Sherer, George Woodberry, Peter L. Ferry and Arthur Campbell were those addressing the board. They, with W. J. Curren, Robert Jensen, Dr. T. C. Young, M. Walters, E. P. Newport, Lon Haddock and Percy Hayselden, form the flood control committee. Members of the City Council, Mayor Spencer Robinson and City Manager V. B. Stone, will accompany the committeemen when they appear before the board of supervisors.

Plans of Engineer James A. Regan to rip-rap a narrow channel down through Verdugo canyon met with the disapproval of the speakers last evening. A substitute plan for work of a more permanent nature was submitted by Mr. Ferry for an open cement channel which would care for water rising to a great height. Mr. Ferry's plan calls for a 20-foot cement roadway on either side of the canyon with a cemented ravine between. This, under all normal conditions, would care for flood waters, he said.

On the outside of the roadway, it is proposed to install high curbs, and at the top of these sidewalks for pedestrian travel. Should the water overflow the banks of the ravine, Mr. Ferry pointed out, it would not immediately spread out over the entire wash and carry with it sediment and debris, but would be confined by the high curbs beyond the roadways. This would allow for any amount of rise before the river would actually overflow its confines. It was argued that the county plan for a rip-rap channel did not provide for a sufficient volume of water and that the rough surface would add to the danger of the channel becoming clogged with debris.

Against Tunnel

The proposed plan to carry water from Sycamore canyon through a tunnel to Verdugo canyon entering the latter at a point opposite Everett street, was also opposed by the speakers.

Messrs. Sherer, Woodberry and Ferry all joined in recommending that the city establish a central emergency station where shovels, high-powered lights, sand bags, rain coats, rubber boots and other equipment for use in combating unexpected floods can be stored, and that a force of 100 men be kept available for flood fighting work at all times.

In presenting the speakers, President W. L. Hewitt declared that Glendale has been singularly fortunate in not having any serious floods in recent years. He said such floods are certain to come from time to time, however, and that, with a heavy rainfall predicted for this winter, the time has arrived to take ample precaution against them.

'TUNE IN' TONIGHT ON PACKER MUSIC

Local Radio Fans Promised Good Program Over KNX; 'Bill' Hatch Sings

Don Packer, manager of the Packer Motor Co., asks that Glendale radio fans "tune in" tonight at 8 o'clock on KNX, Hollywood, when "Bill" Hatch, salesman for the Packer Motor Co., will be heard on a program presented through the courtesy of the Packer Co., in conjunction with Harry D. Riley, Anaheim Studebaker dealer, and Paul G. Hoffman Co., Los Angeles. Popular dance and classical music and the Studebaker radio orchestra will be heard.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

Oh, still, in summer's golden glow,
Or wintry storms of wind and snow,
Love me, my Father; let me know
Thy care for me.

—Marianne Farningham.

ARMISTICE DAY

Gratitude should be the keynote of each recurring Armistice day. We celebrated the first Armistice day hilariously. We were so thankful hostilities had ceased that we went wild. In the years that have passed since then, the world, especially this country, has come to have a different attitude toward war. We no longer glorify Mars, and there has arisen in our midst a group of pacifists who pledge themselves never to fight, not even in defense of their homes and their country; who hate everything connected with war.

It is right and proper to outlaw war, but it is not fair to place under a stigma everything and everyone who had any connection with past wars. Our service men marched away in good faith, many of them against their will, but with that spirit so characteristic of America, "If it must be done, let us do it and have it over." They did their work well. Whatever other nations may think and say, we know that the coming of the Yankees changed the tide of victory in favor of the allies. We know that lies and propaganda were used during the war to engender hate in our hearts. We know many of the stories told of enemy atrocities were exaggerated and untrue. We no longer hate the German people, our late allies have not at all times proved our best friends, and yet we know that the sinking of the Lusitania was not propaganda. We know that German domination of the sea would eventually have meant war in our own country. We know that when our boys braved the submarine and mine-infested Atlantic, they kept the war from our shores.

The Yankee boys went to war with a high courage, to end war forever. That jealousy, hatred and avarice still dwell in the hearts of men and of nations, is no fault of theirs. It is to the shame of us Americans that we forget so easily, that we have scarcely a thought for the brave American boys who lie sleeping the last long sleep, many of them in foreign lands; for those who are maimed and broken in our hospitals sustained by inadequate government aid, and a little grudging charity; and for those who were more fortunate, who came back whole and sound and yet who gave two of the best years of their lives in our defense.

The war god is pictured as a brute, a monstrosity. He merits our deepest hate. But, the men who went with smiles on their lips to give courage to the aching hearts they left behind when called upon to serve this god deserve and should have our fervent gratitude. The man or woman who sneers at our soldiers and what they did for us, or who belittles them in any way, is not worthy of citizenship in this nation which was born in war and preserved from disunion by the blood of soldiers.

On Armistice day, at least, a grateful nation should pause and give honor to those who did our fighting for us.

PSYCHOLOGY OF COLOR

The psychology of color is very interesting, according to a physician who has made a study of it, and who testifies that a great deal of the present-day nervous disorder is due to atrocities in lamp shades. There seems to be a great vogue for red, the color best calculated to give one the blues. People usually use certain colors in their home furnishings and their clothing because they like them and not with any notion of the effect these colors will have upon their spirits or those of others. But the application of lighting psychology to home decoration has begun, and is likely that the future will see considerable progress along that line.

Window display artists have a knowledge of color psychology. They say that a green light thrown on porch furniture and summer clothing in a store window makes them seem more desirable to the public. Clear daylight makes men's clothing most attractive; amber light lures women to fall clothing; that red and amber make home displays pleasing and that women cannot resist lingerie displayed in a pink light.

WORK AT HOME

The Windsor Border-Cities Star says, "Think how the Herrin problem would worry America if it were located in Europe." Not very complimentary, but true. We are so much more concerned about righting wrongs in foreign countries than solving our own problems.

If we did all the things that we should do here in our own country we should be real busy for a couple of centuries or so. We would eliminate such riots as those which occurred in Illinois, West Virginia and Ohio, educate our illiterates, do away with child labor and lynchings, cut down the number of deaths in automobile accidents and our unenviable record of crime, and conserve our forests and other natural resources.

It is good to lend our moral support to Europe, but we have considerable housecleaning to do before taking on too many responsibilities abroad.

PROSPERITY AHEAD

On every side we hear predictions that the next four years will be years of real prosperity and accomplishment for America. With such confidence and optimism prevailing, with any number of big undertakings getting under way, who can say what the next four years will bring forth in the way of progress? Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation, says that never before in the history of the world has any country had such an opportunity for advancement. "The fundamentals are here. The foundation has been laid," he says. "It is up to us, the people, to do our part. It is certain President Coolidge will measure up fully to his responsibilities. This country will be an example and an inspiration."

GIVE DEMOCRATS DUE

Republicans who are crowing over the sweeping victory of the G. O. P., should stop and think how much they owe to their ancient enemies, the Democrats, for this glorious triumph. Thousands of men and women who have voted the Democratic ticket ever since they have had the franchise, and who are loyal to Democratic principles, placed their country's good before party fealty in what seemed, before the election, a national crisis. The Democrats had an honorable and an able man for a candidate, but they saw that his was a lost cause, and they sacrificed him in order to maintain our government and continue the prosperity of the nation. All honor to these Democratic patriots.

Doctors who boast about "pulling folks through" usually have a good many patients at death's door.

Well, anyway, it's better to be dyed in the wool than dead in the woolens.

THE NEXT BIG OBJECTIVE!

The Other Side of the Case

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I have received a very interesting letter from a gentleman who does not wish his name published, who states the other side of the case from that which I outlined some time ago in regard to sailing vessels and conditions of life upon them.

As this man seems to be a sailor and to know what he is talking about, it may be interesting to get his point of view, and the best way to do it would probably be to republish certain portions of his letter. They are as follows:

"After reading the enclosed article I decided to take the liberty to make a few comments in defense of the seafaring man.

"I feel confident that the deplorable conditions that Admiral Summerville describes are very rare on merchant ships.

"I will admit that there are no luxurious baths for the crew of a ship, but any sailor can take a thoroughly cleansing bath from one bucket of water and, when this bath is taken twice a day with a change of clothing, the bather is always clean.

"I have never seen a man do his four-hour watch on deck, to say nothing of the stoke holes, and turn in without a sponge bath, and I have never sailed with any but the common run of sailors of the northwest. I have worked on the fruit ranches of California and the cotton fields of the south, and I am convinced that, on the whole, the quarters of a sailor aboard an American merchant ship are cleaner than the homes of any group of workers ashore.

"I have eaten in boarding houses and workingmen's restaurants the country over and I would rather eat the food on the worst ship I was ever aboard than the food cooked a la boarding house.

"I have been a sailor for the past five years, and during this time I have been aboard of or sailed on many ships of all nations and never once have I witnessed conditions or actions such as the admiral describes. This being the first article of this kind I have seen in the public press, I would like to contradict it to some extent, and so will try to give you a description of my findings.

"On most American ships an investigator would find clean sheets and beds in every bunk on the forecastle, and there are bathrooms with sewers in the floor where a man can take a salt water shower or a fresh water sponge if he chooses, so all in all, we do not fare so bad, and an interested person would be bound to notice the prevailing cleanliness.

"I sincerely hope that some time in the future you will go into the conditions aboard ship more thoroughly, and do us the justice to publish your true findings so that the American people will know that American ships are manned by men rather than by beasts, living under conditions that would cause a slave-holder in the dark ages to have pity for his slaves, were they as bad off as sailors are supposed to be."

Horoscope

Although Uranus is in benefic aspect in the morning of this day, astrologers read it as unfortunate. Saturn, the sun and Neptune are all strongly adverse.

There may be a tendency toward depression and lack of energy and for this reason it will be well to attend to routine affairs.

It is rather a good sign under which to sell, but all important projects should be postponed.

The principal sinister influence is subtle and Neptune is held responsible for inclinations toward deception and underhand methods.

Special caution should be exercised in all business matters connected with oil or liquids. Drugs and anaesthetics may be peculiarly hurtful while this configuration prevails.

Again the stars frown on all who seek employment or who desire preferment.

Agreements and promises on which dependence has been placed may be disappointing and for that reason the greatest fortitude should be cultivated.

Saturn again threatens labor problems and the seers remind us that inevitably conditions abroad will have their effect.

Workers are to gain much power and influence in the next four years and they will have constantly growing financial resources.

Strikes and other difficulties appear to be foreshadowed for the winter when there may be much suffering among the poor.

Education is subject to the most remarkable direction of the stars making for immense increase of students in colleges and secondary schools.

There is a fairly favorable sign for aviation, which is to be more and more used for practical, everyday commercial needs.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the prospect of rather a troublesome year. Changes that puzzle them may be imminent, but they can turn unlucky incidents to their own benefit.

Children born on this day may meet with many obstacles in the way of their high ambitions, but they should have extraordinary talents and ability to win all their life battles.

Today's Poem

LINES

As imperceptibly as grief
The summer lapsed away—
Too imperceptible, at last,
To seem like perfidy.

As quietness distilled,
As twilight long begun,
Or Nature, spending with herself
Sequestered afternoon.

The dusk drew earlier in,
The morning foreign shone—
A courteous, yet harrowing grace,
As quest who would be gone.

And thus, without a wing,
Or service of a keel,
Our summer made her light escape
Into the beautiful.

—Emily Dickinson.

BOOK CIRCULATION INCREASES HERE

South Branch Library Shows 4,660 As Against 3,399 Same Month In 1923

Book circulation of 4,660 during the past month as against 3,399 for the same month a year ago, showed an approximate 33 per cent growth at the Glendale south branch library, corner Los Feliz road and Brand boulevard, according to figures given out by C. H. Cushing, librarian, today.

Those using the library for reference work have shown the greatest gain, more than 1,000 reference readers per month being the average since the start of school in September. There are at present 2,351 card holders at the south branch as against 1,812 on November 1, 1923.

Addition of an extra attendant during the rush hours recently has increased the service at the branch building and is encouraging even greater patronage, Mr. Cushing said.

Great Legion Of Mercy

The annual enrollment campaign of the American Red Cross opened today, Armistice day, throughout the United States, upon the high seas and in the insular possessions. There are more than 3000 Red Cross chapters, with a total membership of more than 3,300,000.

Throughout the United States on the memorable anniversary of the armistice which silenced the guns of world strife the American Red Cross will call the people to join it in the engagements of peace. The annual enrollment, which opens on Armistice day, November 11, and ends on Thanksgiving day, November 27, will be in progress throughout the 3089 counties in the United States, upon the high seas and in the insular possessions.

More than 3000 Red Cross chapters, representing a total membership of more than 3,300,000 will engage in the membership campaign. The chapter is the community unit of the national organization which carries out locally the extensive program, services and policies of the American Red Cross. The industry of these thousands of busy units is a voluntary and steady outpouring of well-doing and practical sympathy softening human suffering and distress wherever it arises.

Strength in individual membership means effectual preparedness of the Red Cross to cope with any call, anywhere, at any time. "It is this annual enlistment of millions of Americans under the banner of the American Red Cross which makes possible the continued work of this great and democratic legion of mercy," says Judge John Barton Payne, head of the national organization.

Students Invited To Visit Glendale Library

Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian at the Glendale Public Library, is inviting Glendale young people who are students to visit the library during "Book Week," November 10 to 15. Book lists have been compiled by the library staff and instruction will be given on the use of reference books on the library shelves.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU, BEGIN TAKING SALTS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate the clogged kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Dobinson Players to Present 'Adam and Eva'

Glendale theatregoers are promised a surprise this week, when "Adam and Eva" will be presented by the Dobinson Players at the club playhouse, beginning Wednesday matinee, November 12. This comedy was written by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, whose plays are noted for their wit, originality and cleverness. "Adam and Eva" played 301 performances at the Longacre theatre, New York City, where it was first produced in 1919 by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest. In the original cast were Ruth Shepley, Otto Kruger and Courtney Foote. It is different from anything the Dobinson Players have attempted. Action takes place in a wealthy home on Long Island, where the family, a group of "idle wasters" live for pleasure.

George C. Pearce will be seen in the role of the American father, while Mary Isabelle Alpaugh will have the role of Eva, his vivacious daughter. Gertrude Rothe will be seen as Julie, another daughter, and Richard Ehlers as Clinton DeWitt, her indolent husband. William H. Stephens will be seen as Adam, a business associate of the father, and Arthur Lovejoy as Lord Andrew Gordon. Uncle Horace Pilgrim will be played by Carroll Nye, while Corinthia, the maid, will be portrayed by Thyra Ruhland. Rosamond Joyzelle will have the part of Aunt Abby Rooker and Eldon Bullis, a newcomer to the company, Dr. Jack Delamater.

Philadelphia Reflects Good Retail Business

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—A good retail business is being done in this section and in the anthracite fields. The gain of some of the stores in the last month will compare favorably with that of similar establishments doing business in any other cities. There is no boom in sight and no strong tendency toward extravagance. The anthracite mines are very busy, but the orders are not so large as they would be had colder weather prevailed. The steam sizes are difficult to work off, as bituminous producers are making every effort to work off their products which correspond to anthracite steam sizes. Anthracite producers are making an earnest struggle to teach people to buy something else than stove sizes.

one secret of good cooking is - properly kept food use ICE

Expert chefs know that the way food has been kept before it is cooked has a lot to do with the success of the cooking. They know that the only way to retain the fresh, wholesome flavor of food is to keep it in the cold, even temperature of a refrigerator. They use ice regularly, all the year round. Here's a tip to every housewife

Another Phone Prefix Promised To Glendale

will have been added, for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. is compelled to look ahead in serving the public. As an evidence of the rapid development of the Glendale exchange, there were forty-seven switchboard girls on January 1 of the present year, as compared with the sixty-three now required to handle the vast number of daily incoming and outgoing calls.

Pasadena already has two prefixes, "Colorado" and "Fair Oaks," Mr. Deal said, and plans are under way to further expend the system in that city.

To illustrate the growth of Glendale, Mr. Deal furnishes the following figures:

Telephones installed
January 1, 1920	2308
January 1, 1921	2907
January 1, 1922	3569
January 1, 1923	4226
January 1, 1924	5523

By September 1, 1924, Glendale had 6697 telephones installed and this number had now increased to 7050. Few cities in the state have shown such increases, according to Mr. Deal, and none the size of Glendale have made such strides.

Glendale Ahead

During the period from January 1 to September 1 of the present year, Glendale's installations showed a gain of 21.25 per cent. Los Angeles, during the same period, showed a gain of 12.27 per cent; San Francisco, 4.64 per cent; Portland, 3.75 per cent; Seattle, 2.85 per cent; Alhambra, 13.45 per cent; Riverside, 3.88 per cent; Fresno, 0.35 per cent. Over the entire state, the average gain for the period was 6.07 per cent.

"In 1921 I interviewed twenty prominent Glendale business men, in an effort to arrive at an estimate of the probable population of Glendale by 1927," Mr. Deal said. "They were so conservative that I was finally obliged to make my own guess, and I guessed 50,000. When I told them this they laughed and said I was too high. There was only one man in Glendale who said I was too low—and that was A. T. Cowan, publisher and proprietor of The Glendale Evening News. What was then the future is now the present. The year 1924 will close with a population of nearly 60,000. We were too conservative as well as those other twenty men, the moral of which is that Glendale grows faster than we dare to guess.

"In providing facilities for future telephone connections, we cannot afford to be too sanguine. On the other hand, experience has taught us that we cannot afford to be too conservative—or we will be caught napping."

OFFICIAL EXPLAINS STREET PAYMENTS

Assessment Bills Issued By Contractor Payable In Ten Installments

The question of payment for street work, a vital one for many Glendale people, is raised by Henry E. Brockway of 221 Richland avenue, in the following letter, and answered by A. J. Van Wie, city clerk, in a concise statement that follows the letter:

Editor, The Evening News:—Yesterday November 6, I was handed a "bill for street assessment," dated October 28, in remond avenue, etc., with an intiavenue, Sinclair avenue, Richwhatever for payment on the inmation, 'Last day to pay, November 17, 1924.' This gives one just eleven days to scare up a sum of $128. The alternative is, that bonds will be issued, 'constituting a first lien against the property herein described.'

"Is this the customary way of doing things in Glendale? The assumption is, that Glendale is such a thriving city that everyone receiving these notices has merely to put his hands in his pockets and hand over the desired amount. No arrangement whatever for payment of the installment plan, which is such a boon in other business deals, is hinted at."

The city of Glendale has nothing to do with issuing the billls for street work, according to Mr. Van Wie, who says:

"These assessment bills are issued by the contractor who did the work. They need not be paid all at once but may be paid in ten equal installments, as Mr. Brockway suggests. These installments are payable one a year, over a ten-year period, the unpaid balance bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, from the date the bonds are issued. The bill for the first year's installment on the street work in question will appear as one of the items on the 1925-26 tax bill. It is true that these bonds constitute a first lien against the property, which may be sold by the bondholders at any time after a coupon comes due and is unpaid.'

Armistice Day

ASSERTS HUSBAND IS HUMAN SPONGE

Frances Shafer, Answering Divorce Bills, Recalls Trip Around World

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—From Rome to Rangoon her husband was drunk on a world tour, early this year, according to the cross complaint filed by Frances Shafer against Walter K. Shafer. He nearly missed the boat "Empress of Canada" on two occasions, kept her awake nights arguing that he was sober, and drank everything from the red wine of Italy to the Scotch whiskies served aboard the palatial liner, she said.

Mrs. Shafer had been roundly attacked in her husband's complaint, but she came back for the second round with a story that equalled any joyride since Columbus first sailed across the big pond. Among other things she alleges her husband shied a hairbrush at her, which she dodged, and it broke a cabin mirror. "You're yellow," he is alleged to have said.

In Bathing Suit

When the boat was at Manila he paraded the decks in a bathing suit, the wife sets forth, and caused her more mental agony. In Calcutta and New York she asserts he loudly asked her on the streets, "Where do you want to go now?" They continued around the world and took up their abode at 232 South Catalina street, Los Angeles, where from June 4 to October 4 he "entertained drunken friends" in their home, scattered the bedclothes, tore clothes from their hangers in the closet and left the house littered with liquor bottles, she recites in her complaint.

Community property valued at $75,000 is another little matter over which the couple disagree, according to the divergent com- of calling him none too nice plaints. Shafer accuses his wife names, which she denies, but admits she told him he acted like a fool while drinking.

Dr. Harrower's Clinic Inspected by Doctors

they express the high esteem and affection in which they hold him, as a man, as a physician and as a co-worker; and voice the hope that life will hold for him many more triumphs of convictions vindicated and scientific claims proved."

The parchment was presented to Dr. Harrower by Dr. H. J. Achard, managing editor of the Endocrine Survey, published by the Harrower Laboratory. "Many have ideas offering wonderful possibilities," he said, "but few can put them over, because few have such a combination of the qualities of success as has Dr. Henry R. Harrower."

Dr. Harrower, in his remarks, outlined his reasons for locating in Glendale and told of his early struggles. "The Harrower Laboratory was a way station along the road to the present clinic," he said. "And as for opposition, I am grateful for it. The clinic will be a potent factor in opposing opposition."

Humanity's Servant

Dr. Harrower then refuted the charges of commercialism that have been hurled at him from time to time by those opposed to his views. The legal, financial and medical differences between the Harrower Laboratory and the Harrower Foundation Clinic were then briefly traced. The clinic is to be devoted to the service of humanity, he told his audience, whereas the laboratory is to continue as the money-making institution, much of its profits going to maintain the clinic.

At the conclusion of his remarks Dr. Harrower introduced Dr. Horace A. Hall, whom he stated he has promoted to manager of the Harrower Foundation Clinic. Dr. Hall then traced briefly some of the things the clinic hoped to accomplish in the field of endocrinology.

At the conclusion of the exercises, the new building was inspected by many of the visiting physicians and friends of the institution.

Finds Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Gentlemen:

After eating Kellogg's Bran twice a day for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation . . . for more than twenty years . . . after adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation. . . . I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran relieves mild and chronic constipation because it is ALL bran. It brings sure results. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine in nature's own way. Don't experiment. Only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring permanent relief—or your grocer returns your money. You should eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

The flavor is delicious—nut-like—cooked and krumbled. Enjoy it with milk or cream, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the delightful recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers everywhere.

GIVES FOUR WAYS TO JUDGE WASHER

L. E. Mason Explains Things To Expect In Buying Electrical Machine

"There are four ways to judge an electric washer," said L. E. Mason, of the Mason Electric Service, 113 North Brand boulevard. "It must wash clothes thoroughly, safely and quickly. It must be easy and safe to operate. It must be absolutely dependable. It must be trouble-proof, low in upkeep, and be built to give a lifetime of service. Primarily the 800,000 women who bought Hurley electric washing machines bought them for just one reason, they have no equal. No other machine is so solidly constructed, so simply and safely operated. From the building of the first washer eighteen years ago down to the present, there has never been an attempt at cheapness, and that is why Hurley machines have always served perfectly."

Mason Electric Service is showing a full line of Hurley machines from the model 32 with Luminoid clyinder and electric swinging wringer, to the less expensive superior model 45, an oscillating type.

PRESIDENT IS SILENT AS BEFORE

Country Waits Change That Is Expected To Show His Personality

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Calvin Coolidge of the campaign, silent, cautious disciple of the political faith which utters no superfluous word or undertakes no unnecessary task, and Calvin Coolidge of tomorrow with the barrier of a third term giving him the strength to be an independent executive may develop the contutract which for many months his closest friends have been privately predicting.

There is no question but that the personality of Calvin Coolidge is to a large extent unknown. As governor of Massachusetts he showed at times, qualities of leadership which were not asserted in the past year here as president of the United States especially in dealing with Congress. The explanation usually made was that in a political year much must be forgiven which ordinarily would not be countenanced.

Conservative Leader

Enough of the president's attitude toward public questions has been revealed to show that the moves along conservative lines and that once he takes his position he is not given to reversals or waverings. But in dealing with congress, the president has not been particularly fortunate.

His own leaders have not been able to work out a liaison that was satisfactory. The fact that the balance of power was held by the La Follette Republicans in the two houses of congress has usually been accepted as an excuse for what happened but those who follow the maneuvres of congress can not but concede that many of the advantages obtained by the radicals in the last session of congress were due to the mistakes in tactics of the conservative leaders.

House in Control

With the house in control of the conservative Republicans there will be a better opportunity for the administration to get its legislation through than before. In the senate, however, the moderate progressives still can swing away from the administration. The senate will prove the stumbling-block for many pieces of legislation which should go through the house rather easily.

The psychological effect of the president's victory will be felt all along the line. The conservatives will dare to be bolder and the radicals will not have the same aggressiveness as heretofore.

Readiness of conservative Republicans to bolt their own ticket and support a Democrat as they did in Iowa in an effort to beat Senator Brookhart is almost the outstanding feature of the whole election result.

Late returns may prove Brookhart the victor, but by such a narrow squeeze that he will be a sadder and wiser man when he enters the Republican cloakroom.

Johnson's Downfall

In Minnesota, too, the downfall of Magnus Johnson is significant of conservative tactics. There a regular Republican was nominated who was by no means as radical as Johnson, but who has nevertheless been identified with the progressive group. It was a case of fighting fire with fire and though one wing of the Republican organization didn't like the nomination of Thomas D. Schall, they did admit that Schall was a safer and more reasonable man to represent Republican voters than was Magnus Johnson.

Schall is very friendly to the railway brotherhoods and union labor and he can be expected to support the labor side of legislative issues. But, at that, the Republicans themselves put him up and while he won with the very support which ordinarily would go to a La Follette type of senator he was given the whole-hearted vote of the regular Republicans. Schall like others elected this time will not be so much inclined to the radical or insurgent side as to lose the support of the regular Republicans in his state.

Farm Bloc Threatens

Men like Schall will follow President Coolidge on measures that are of national benefit, but Mr. Coolidge will find Schall as well as others inclined to join with the Democrats whenever any measure sectional in character is proposed. Unless the administration, for instance, takes the initiative in a constructive program for agriculture these western senators will be found reviving the farm bloc again.

Mr. Coolidge has not tried to drive congress. The development of new leaders in both houses of congress may make that unnecessary, but it is no reflection on the president's careful policy of the past to say that congress will ask him more and more for guidance especially in advance of the passage of legislation. For, while technically speaking the executive and legislative are two separate branches of the government, they get along most effectively when the leader of the part in the White House speaks his mind before his colleagues in the senate and the house commit themselves to a course of action.

Election Effect

There is little doubt that if Mr. Coolidge had sent a message threatening to veto the soldier bill that it might have had harder sledding than it had when the measure came up for re-passage. The executive also acted too late to prevent senators from lining up on the Japanese issue.

"We would stultify ourselves," said a New England senator the other day, "if we reversed our opinion after a veto message came to us. What we need is enlightenment ahead of time, before we have committed ourselves."

Probably nobody realizes this particular phase of executive leadership more keenly now than the president himself. The effect of the election on Calvin Coolidge may not be immediately apparent, but the development of a stronger executive may be expected.

Lesson From Sportdom

The last yard is what counts, not only in athletics, but in all walks of life, according to Dr. William L. Bryan, president of Indiana university. Dr. Bryan, himself an "I" man of Indiana university, makes the following plea, which might well be the motto of every athlete in America:

"It's the last yard that counts.

"Twice the Germans were on the verge of taking the Channel ports, of taking Paris, of winning the Great War. THEY COULD NOT MAKE THE LAST YARD, and now—.

"James G. Blaine lacked a few hundred votes of winning the presidency of the United States. If only he had said the right word at a certain critical moment! But the right word was not said. HE COULD NOT MAKE THE LAST YARD.

"The great horse, Epinard, has lost three international races within sixty days, each by a stride, by a nose, by a shadow. HE COULD NOT MAKE THE LAST YARD and he goes back home.

"WALTER JOHNSON MADE THE LAST YARD. In the last moments of the last game of his great career he made the distance and wins a final glory.

"In all the battles of this world, victory belongs to those who have THE UNSHAKEN WILL TO WIN THE LAST YARD."

BIG TRADING ON EXCHANGE IN N.Y.

Forward Movement Goes on With Heavy Demand For Retail Stocks

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—All departments of the stock market participated today in another vigorous forward price movement, in which the volume of trading was fully equal to that of any of the recent sensational sessions.

As interest in the railroad stocks appeared to be waning, powerful pool interests took the high-priced industrial stocks in hand and swept them forward to new high prices. At the same time the activity of the market broadened to include a larger range of copper, oil and specialty stocks, some of which have been conspicuously inactive in recent weeks.

With sharp advances of five points each, American Can and General Electric were the leaders in the high-priced industrial group, both stocks responding to reports that the directors are contemplating a split-up of the common shares by the stock dividend. It is problematical to what extent the trapping of the shorts in these stocks and also in Baldwin and United States Steel was responsible for the violent rise in their prices today, but recent heavy borrowings show that the short interest is very heavy. Other stocks which are said to have benefited by this condition were American Woolen, American Sugar and Cast Iron Pipe.

Rail Stocks Boom

Railroad stocks in both the high and low-priced groups resumed their forward movement today. Southern Pacific sold up to a new high at 102¾, for a gain of three points, as rumors circulated in the financial district that the directors would increase the dividend from 6 to 7 per cent. St. Louis & San Francisco common led the speculative group with a 2½-point rise to a new high at 46¾, but demand was well distributed over a dozen or more stocks, with Rock Island, New Haven, Erie, Wabash and the Katy stocks making the best price records. Frisco preferred was in good demand and recorded a new high at 76.

Oil stocks led the market in the early trading, but speculative interests turned from them as well as from the copper stocks when the high-priced industrials set the market boiling. Some of the oils responded to the report that buyers of crude were offering a premium for Tonkawa crude. Higher prices were recorded in Savage Arms, Foundation Co., Industrial Alcohol and other specialty stocks which have been prominent in recent weeks.

The Chicago grain market was closed, but prices at Winnipeg were higher; cotton was strong on trade and speculative buying; rail and industrial bonds steady. Time money was firmer.

Police Hunt Women In Diamond Dealer Killing

had feared for his life was evidenced by Mrs. Dora Katz, police say. When she was informed of her son's death she exclaimed, "I'm sure it was——." She was silenced by her daughter, Betty, who warned her mother to remain silent until "the proper time."

Hal Hale, Los Angeles realty dealer, was questioned by police. He said he had been with Katz up until after 5 o'clock last night and that Katz was expecting a male caller. He said he was negotiating with Katz for the sale of the apartment house and that the owner told him he would complete the deal this morning, as he was expecting a caller at 5:30 o'clock. Hale said he left the apartment about that time. According to the belief expressed by investigating officers, the slayer was an intimate acquaintance of Katz.

FIRST SPLIT SEEN IN RANKS OF G.O.P.

Opinions Divided on How Soon Pledges Are to Be Launched

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—With the cheers of a Republican victory still echoing in the distance, President Coolidge was confronted today with a first class division of opinion in his party over the question of how soon the administration is going to embark on a program of carrying out its campaign pledges.

The congress that was elected on the crest of the Coolidge landslide cannot for more than a year yet, thirteen months to be exact, take their seats, unless Mr. Coolidge calls a special session to convene after March 4 next.

What is Expected

The question has been put up to the president in about this form:

Can the party afford to wait thirteen months before undertaking to carry out its pledges to business to lower taxes, particularly in the higher brackets, and accomplish the other legislative reforms that it promised to business during the campaign just ended?

The president is expected to lose no time in launching into the solving of this first business to come before the chief executive which will have an important bearing on the outcome of the campaign pledges.

KIWANIS CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Regular Luncheon Date Is Advanced on Account Of State Conclave

Members of the Kiwanis club will meet for luncheon tomorrow noon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse instead of Friday noon, on account of the state convention at Santa Barbara Friday and Saturday, it was announced today by D. H. Webb, secretary of the club. The meeting tomorrow will be in charge of the Pasadena Kiwanis club, and the visiting organization will provide entertainment.

Many members of the Glendale club are planning to attend the state convention. Reservations have been made for the local delegation for the two days, while others are planning to drive to Santa Barbara Friday night and be present for the business sessions and entertainment on the closing day.

Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Will Meet

Mrs. Archie M. Parker announces that the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Episcopal church will meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Squires, 113 West Lomita street. Miss Magill, president of the auxiliary of the diocese, will be special guest and speaker. There will be a shower of jellies and jams for the home for the aged at Alhambra.

PARIS HONOR DEAD

PARIS, Nov. 11.—With bowed heads and a minute of silence at 11 o'clock, France honored her war dead today. A London-like fog hung over the crowd as President Doumergue paid homage to the unknown soldier at his grave below the arch of triumph.

COAST LEAGUE IN HARMONY MEET

Strength Given Rumor That Johnson Will Purchase Portland Beavers

SEATTLE, Nov. 11.—Directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball league finished the first day of their annual session here yesterday afternoon in complete harmony. The nearest approach to discord arose over a proposal to transfer the Salt Lake franchise to Long Beach and move the Vernon Tigers to San Francisco, for continuous baseball.

The move was defeated when Tom Turner of Portland placed himself on record by voting with the "big five." Turner's attitude in the "political" war was in doubt until the vote was taken.

Strength was given the rumor today that Walter Johnson would probably purchase the Oakland franchise when President J. Cal Ewing explained his opposition to the resolution with the statement that negotiations were under way with Johnson and his associates and that he did not want any action taken at this time that would change the status of the league.

Price Is Holdup

It is understood a matter of $25,000 is holding up the deal, but that the difference in purchase price will be adjusted in the near future. Unofficially it was stated Ewing's price for the Oakland club is $350,000.

Dates for the first four weeks of the 1925 schedule were announced, with Seattle awarded the place of honor. Indians open the season at San Francisco; Oakland goes to Sacramento; Vernon opens at Salt Lake, and Portland at Los Angeles. The season will open the first Tuesday in April and will be of the same length as the last schedule, with the probability of Seattle and Portland finishing in California owing to the unsettled weather conditions in the northwest late in October. Meeting was resumed at 11 o'clock this morning.

Yucatan Divorces Need U. S. Court 'Once-Over'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Divorces granted in Yucatan, Mexico, recently become a Mecca for divorce-seeking Americans, are not valid in the United States until they have been approved by the American courts, according to an official statement issued by the Mexican embassy.

JURY DETERMINES CAUSE OF DEATH

Contributory Negligence Is Verdict In Fatal Gas Blast on Oct. 31

Contributory negligence was the verdict of the coroner's jury yesterday in the death of Uris Z. Hammond, November 7, 1924, from burns received October 31, in a gas explosion at 525 West Riverdale drive. The jury recommended that the methods used by the Southern California Gas Co., in the installation of pipes and meters be thoroughly investigated. The inquest was held at the L. G. Scovern Co., undertaking parlors.

It was testified that the gas company made the practice of installing extensions without turning off the main at the street. It was also testified that a similar explosion to the one on Riverdale drive recently occurred at the corner of Kenilworth avenue and South street. An inquiry is understood to have been launched by Harold L. Davis, assistant district attorney, homicide department, Los Angeles.

Department Stores Hit High Mark With Sales

FT. WORTH, Nov. 11.—Loans by the federal reserve bank of the 11th district should show a decrease of 50 per cent in September as compared with August, while department store sales in the same period increased 60 per cent. The October sales, however, were slightly lower, owing to hot weather.

Honor Memory of War Veteran Who Lost Life In Fire

Fitting tribute was paid to the memory of Clarence Edwards, victim of the forest fire in the Verdugo hills in the fall of 1923, when, following the parade, Commander Joseph A. Wilson of the local American Legion post, led a detachment of the departed Legionnaire's former "buddies" to Forest Lawn cemetery, where a huge American flag made from red, white and blue flowers was placed on his grave. The floral piece was the gift of Warren's Flower store.

INDIAN CUTS OFF HANDS OF VICTOR

Red Man Gets Revenge After Waiting Twenty Years, Victim May Die

OKMULGEE, Okla., Nov. 11.—Revenge, withheld for twenty years by a half breed Indian, had been satisfied today in the mutilation of Robert A. Fletcher, who lies in a local hospital weak from the loss of blood with both his hands severed at the wrists by a sharp hatchet. A chopping block, Fletcher declared, had been used by the half breed in getting his revenge after the manner of his forefathers.

Fletcher declared while traveling from Slick, Okla., to Okmulgee with a telephone lineman, their car was halted by an Indian, who leveled a shotgun at the men in the car. Fletcher was jerked from the machine and the lineman, after hurling a hatchet at the Indian, sped away.

The Indian and a companion marched the white man into the woods. The red man struck Fletcher in the face and hissed: "You no remember what happened twenty years ago, but Indian remember and now he take his revenge."

Found By Motorists

Fletcher remembers hearing a chopping sound, then both hands went numb. He can recount nothing that happened after that until he awoke in the hospital. Motorists found him wandering aimlessly near the highway, the two gory stumps spouting blood at the wrists.

Twenty years ago, in Chickasaw county, Fletcher said, he won a law suit and a fight from an Indian half breed. During the fight he struck the red man with a pair of brass knuckles he had in his pocket.

How the Indian learned of his whereabouts today, Fletcher does not know. A warrant charging mayhem was issued today. The Indian's name was not made public.

thanked the people of Glendale for co-operating in the celebration of Armistice day here and then introduced the speaker of the day, Mattison B. Jones.

Today's Program

Today's program for the celebration of Armistice day included the meeting of the Exchange club at the Masonic temple at 12:15 o'clock, and the championship game between the Covina and Glendale High school teams at Broadway field, starting at 2:30 o'clock, to determine the winners in Class C of the Central league.

The luncheon of the Tuesday Afternoon club at the clubhouse, Lexington street and Central avenue, at 12, noon, was followed by the annual charter day celebration. Appropriate exercises commemorating Armistice day were held by the members of the club at the luncheon and meeting.

Other events of the day will include a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at 6:30 o'clock when a patriotic dinner will be served at the home of Mrs. J. M. Woolsey, 342 West Maple street, and the meeting of the Daughters of Veterans, Mary Jane Gillette tent, at 1430½ South San Fernando road, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Victory ball, announced by the American Legion, which will be held at 333 North Brand boulevard, will bring the day's activities to a close.

Gasoline represents 45 per cent of the value of all petroleum produced.

BUSINESS IS FREE FROM POLITICS

Patient Has Come Out Of Anesthetic, Steady Forward March

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Politics has been eliminated from the business situation as a result of the quadrennial election operation, the patient has come out of the anesthetic and will soon be on its feet again better than ever. That is the way business men all over the country expressed themselves today. This is not a partisan view. Adherents of all parties are glad it is over. Leaders of all sorts look forward to a period of healthy prosperity, based on general economic conditions through the country and world, and they have already begun to prepare to take advantage of it.

Orders for more materials, larger production and heavier advertising which have been released since Tuesday have been issued not primarily because of the result but because election itself has passed. Programs of business have already been made and appropriations for advertising already set aside. They had simply been held up because of the period of uncertainty.

The result however, was none the less marked today, according to telegraphic dispatches from all sections, showing first in consumer buying. From Chicago, the packing interests report a strengthening of markets for products sold for future delivery and predict continued betterment. J. Ogden Armour declared the result of the election would benefit not only the packers but all business.

The large mail order houses, after a record month in October, state they look for an even greater improvement this month. Railroad loadings are at the highest point of all time in the west. Bookings of over 60,000 tons of steel are assured western mills for this week and plants are preparing to increase production. Mill executives predict higher prices. Railroads are coming forward with steel orders at Gary, Pittsburgh and Youngstown which had been held up.

Mid-West Improvement

In St. Louis, merchants report definite improvement in both inquiries and purchases since Tuesday, especially in musical instruments, furniture, jewelry and expensive clothing. Large orders for coke and steam coal filed before election by industrial consumers have now been released preparatory to increased production.

Large orders for lumber in the Pacific northwest are now commencing to be released. Manufacturers on the Pacific coast expect their peak of sales to be reached before January 1. In the southwest, orders for considerable new construction, many loans and much advertising which had been held up by election uncertainty, have been placed. The stock men were the most jubilant of the southwestern business men as they feared continued depression if a change of administration occurred. Much construction will now go forward in that section since the loans have been assured.

In the south, leading financiers of Atlanta pointed out today that the election had practically assured hearty co-operation of the country in the functioning of the Dawes plan for European reorganization which will mean enlargement of markets for southern products, especially cotton and cotton goods. They expect business commitments in the south to become freer. Heads of the leading commercial houses of New Orleans viewed the passing of election with satisfaction since it removes a damper on business expansion. Cold weather, they feel is all that is necessary now to start active buying.

Cleveland wires that the first concrete evidence of the post election pick-up was the closing of two orders for 12,000 tons of pig iron by the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. The company has increased the price of pig iron 50 cents a ton.

New York and Philadelphia districts are beginning to feel the effect of released orders and while production increases have not yet taken place they are in preparation. The New England textile men are more confident than at any time this year.

The Wrath To Come

CHAPTER XVI

"Well?"

"But I have never confided in her, not one word," the young man declared. "We Japanese are not like that. We do not talk. We carry our secrets in our brain."

"Then if you have told her nothing, what are you afraid of?" Grant asked.

"I have told her nothing," Itash repeated vehemently, "nor can I think of a single written line of a compromising nature which could possibly have come into her possession. Yet I am disturbed in my mind. Cleo is a strange being. She has the gift of speaking the truth. Not all people have it. When she speaks a thing, one's heart feels that it is true. So when she tells me that there are secrets of mine which have come within her knowledge, I am afraid. She came to you last night, and she talked to you earnestly. I ask you, sir, did she tell you anything of those affairs confided to me, the disclosure of which could amount in any way to a breach of faith?"

"Not a word," Grant assured him. "To be quite frank, I don't know what you're talking about."

The young man passed his hand across his forehead."

"Mr. Slattery, sir," he confessed, "I am in great distress of mind and body. The death of my Chief last night was terrible, and all the time I cannot escape from this load of anxiety which weighs upon me."

"I should use a little common sense," Grant advised. "If you know that you have told her nothing, if you know that you have committed none of your secrets, whatever they may be, to paper, can't you realize that she is only trading upon your fears?"

"That must be so," Itash muttered.

"Furthermore," Grant continued, "if she had secrets to tell, why on earth should she bring them to me? I am the last person in the world likely to be interested in them."

The young man shot a sudden quick glance at his companion. Then he blinked a great many times behind his spectacles.

"I see that," he acknowledged. "You are not in the Diplomatic Service, Mr. Slattery?"

"In my younger days I was Secretary at Berlin and London for a short time," Grant told him. "When I came into my money, however, I chucked it. The young lady's choice of me as a confidant would have been ridiculous."

"Just so," Itash agreed. "Then she told you nothing?"

"Nothing at all."

"Nor did she give you the impression that she had anything to tell?"

"She gave me no impression at all, except that she was rather a mysterious young person, suffering from an acute fit of jealousy."

Itash rose slowly to his feet. He held out his hand.

"I apologize humbly, Mr. Slattery," he said. "I see that I have been very foolish. Thank you for listening to me. I will go now."

"You are not going to play?"

Itash shook his head sorrowfully.

"It would not be reverent. In a week or two, perhaps, if I am still here."

He made his way towards the gate—an odd figure, in his ceremonious black apparel. Susan looked after him curiously.

"Well, have you promised to let him have his girl back again?" she asked Grant, as he returned to her side.

"I have assured him that I am not a serious rival for her favors," he rejoined. "The young man seems comforted."

"Got your hands pretty full as it is, haven't you?"

"Look here," Grant said severely. "Kindly remember that I have steered you to victory on the tennis courts, and in a day or two, if you behave yourself, I will be able to take you for a cruise in the Grey Lady. Incidentally I should be glad if you would further bear in mind the fact that I am a great many years your senior. A little more respect, please. Now, come along, and I'll give you a lift down to the club for tea."

"Thank you. I thought of going with Bobby."

"You may have thought of it, but you are coming with me," he insisted.

"Rather a bully, aren't you?" she observed coolly. "However, perhaps I'd better. Bobby gets so affectionate in those little voitures—thinks one needs steadying all the time. You're above that sort of thing, aren't you?"

"The springs of my Rolls-Royce," he began—

THE GATEWAY

Wallace MacDonald, who plays the part of Master Peter Godolphin, slain in a duel during the action of Frank Lloyd's picture version of "The Sea Hawk," Sabatini's celebrated story picturized by First National pictures, now showing the last times today at the Gateway theatre, entered motion pictures at the old Mack Sennett studios.

"In those days," MacDonald jokingly remarks, "being a comedian in a motion picture studio was lower than a German mark. The actors played two and three parts in every film, and all but the leading man put on police uniforms every Saturday and either jumped into some pond in a park or got thrown into the water as regular as the day arrived.

"I gave up the legitimate stage to gain the experience acting with motion pictures on various locations and in many plays might give me. I got it. Every Saturday night after I dried my clothes I vowed to quit the picture business, and by the time the next Saturday arrived I had my Keystone cop's uniform nicely pressed and rushed out to jump into the lake as eagerly as before."

MURPHY COMEDIANS

"The Power of Wealth," now showing nightly at the tent theatre of Murphy Comedians No. 2, San Fernando boulevard at Cedar street, Burbank, is a strong political comedy-drama of the present, in four acts. John Hughes has the leading role, supported by Barbara Gurney. The curtain rises 8:15 o'clock, though the tent is open from 7:15 o'clock on.

Mr. Hughes has the role of a young district attorney, surrounded by "rotten" politics and in love with the daughter of the corrupt political boss. This affords him an excellent opportunity to further demonstrate the the ability revealed last week in "Peg o' My Heart."

John Hughes is well known on the Pacific coast, having played all the large cities from Seattle to San Diego, opposite Ruth Long, in "The Misleading Lady." Barbara Gurney is a David Belasco discovery.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

The clever comedy "Adam and Eva," which will open at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre with a 2:30 o'clock Wednesday matinee, will appeal to the largest audiences the Dobinson Players have drawn in Glendale, in the opinion of Mrs. Florence Dobinson, who states that the lines of the play are particularly clever and the plot original and daring. The cast, she says, will be fully up to the high standards of professional excellence already set by this company.

The Dobinson Players are winning large numbers of friends each week by the competent manner in which they put on these big popular plays. It is no longer necessary for Glendale theatregoers to journey to Los Angeles to see a thoroughly good play. Last Friday night the Glendale Optimist club attended the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse in a body to see the Dobinson Players and it is expected that other local organizations will follow suit.

THE GLENDALE

"Yankee Madness," and Jack Dempsey in "Town Hall, Tonight," will show today at the Glendale theatre.

THE T. D. & L.

"Feet of Clay," directed by Cecil B. DeMille, is the feature today at the T. D. & L. theatre.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CORN MOUSE

Not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow was a field of corn. In the summer the stalks of corn had been bright green. Now they were drab and brown, for Jack Frost had touched them with his cold fingers.

The farmer had cut his cornstalks, piling them in little heaps here and there in the field. The heaps of cornstalks were like tiny tents.

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, looking from the window across the field, saw the brown and rustling cornstalks.

"Uncle Wiggily," called the muskrat lady housekeeper, "there are still some ears of corn on those stalks. The farmer will not care if you take the ears he has left, for he doesn't want them."

"Well, do you want them?" asked the bunny uncle with a twinkle on his pink nose.

"Indeed, I would like a few," said Nurse Jane. "If you bring the ears of corn to me I will shell them and make you a corn pudding."

"That will be fine!" laughed Mr. Longears. So he hopped to the field and, standing up as high as he could on his hind legs, to reach an ear of corn he saw, he began nibbling it loose from the stalk.

And then, suddenly, there was a rustling under the pile of corn and a voice cried:

"Who is out there? Who is taking the corn?"

At first Uncle Wiggily thought this might be the farmer. But the bunny looked at the corn stalks and said:

"No farmer could hide under them; he is too large. It must be some one else. But I hope it isn't the Fox or Wolf."

And then, out from under the pile of fodder, ran a cute little gray creature with a long tail.

"Oh, hello, little Corn Mouse!" called Uncle Wiggily. "Was it you who spoke to me?"

"It was," said the Corn Mouse. "I am living under the pile of corn, you know—my baby mice and I."

"May I see your baby mice?" asked the bunny, politely.

"Certainly," answered the Corn Mouse. Then she called: "Quee! Quee! Quee!" and out from under the little corn tent ran seven baby Corn Mice. On their whiskers were grains of corn they had gnawed, for they had been eating lunch.

"Oh, what cute little Corn Mice!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "And what long tails they have!"

"Yes, and what good ears for nibbling you have!" suddenly cried a savage voice and around the corner of the corn tent came the Fox.

"Oh, don't nibble my ears!" begged the bunny.

"Yes, I shall!" howled the Fox. "Quick, my little Corn Mice, we must help Uncle Wiggily," said the mother mouse. "Nip the Fox on his toes!"

So before the bad chap could bite the bunny the mother mouse and the seven little mice, eight of them altogether, began to nibble the toes of the Fox. Two mice nibbled each toe, and the Fox had to dance up and down. He had no time to bite the mice.

"Wowzie! Scowzie!" howled the bad chap. "Stop nibbling my toes!"

"We'll stop when you run away!" squeaked the mother mouse.

"Then I'll run away!" barked the Fox, and away he ran, and Uncle Wiggily laughed. Then he thanked the mice for helping him, and, after picking two ears of corn, he hopped back to his bungalow. The mother mouse and the seven little mice crawled back under the corn and went to sleep.

And if the church steeple doesn't lean down to the ground to try on the rag doll's roller skates, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's concert.

GAS POISONING

In yesterday's paper I wrote on the dangers of chronic carbon monoxide, or coal gas poisoning, and quoted Dr. Georgine Luden's article on the subject.

Let me tell you a little about this gas which is so poisonous that if breathed in in sufficient amounts, will cause sudden death, and breathed in tiny amounts over any length of time will cause chronic symptoms of poisoning.

The term "carbon monoxide" explains the chemical formula. It is composed of one part of carbon combined with one part of oxygen. This gas is given off when artificial or natural gas or coal or wood is not burned completely; that is, when sufficient oxygen is not given so that complete combustion ensues, forming a gas containing one part of carbon to two parts of oxygen instead of one. This gas is called carbon dioxide but is better known as carbonic acid gas.

This carbonic acid gas is not dangerous when breathed in small amounts. It is the same waste gas that is driven off in small amounts from our lungs. When shut up in a room with many people, there is enough carbonic acid gas thrown off to make one feel oppressed and stifled, but one revives quickly in the air. Carbonic acid gas is used to make carbonated waters and in this form it acts as a gentle stimulant to the stomach.

Carbon monoxide, on the other hand, even in small amounts, is very pernicious. After breathing this gas one does not recover quickly in the open air, and, if not sufficient to cause death, illness for hours or days may result. As you know, carbon monoxide acts so quickly that the victim may be overcome before he realizes his danger. The reason for this is that the monoxide actually becomes a part of the red blood corpuscles and retains its hold 300 times longer than does oxygen (Macomb). A corpuscle so burdened with carbon monoxide cannot carry its oxygen, and without oxygen the tissues cannot live.

The acute and chronic poisonings and deaths are mostly caused by gas leaks, gas radiators, gas heaters and gas water heaters. The gas water heaters seem to be the most deadly offenders. No matter what type you have, it is best that flues are provided to carry off the fumes. Gas poisoning may occur from ordinary coal stoves and ranges. When fresh coal is added, if the drafts are closed so that not enough air is allowed, the burning carbon does not get enough oxygen to go on to complete combustion or carbon dioxide, but stops at carbon monoxide, the deadly gas stage.

Another modern danger is the gasoline engine, especially in automobiles. The exhaust from the engines contains carbon monoxide in dangerous amounts, and not a few of those who have worked in closed garages with the automobile engines running have been overcome by the fumes. Remember this and have plenty of fresh air while working around your automobile, if the engine is running.

When you are cooking over a gas stove, be sure that all of the little holes in the gas fixture give out the fumes. Do not consider lightly any odor of leaking gas, but notify your local gas company immediately. And be careful not to stay in a room with this odor without a plentiful supply of fresh air. Flexible rubber tubing is dangerous because it rapidly becomes porous, so it is much safer to have metal tubing.

Another danger that must be warned against is turning gas burners low at night. If the gas pressure should go down the light will go out, and then when the pressure is increased there will be enough unburned gas in the room to cause fatalities. Or even if the pressure should not increase the gas will accumulate. Gas pilots may also go out under the same circumstances. Unless you want to go to the bourne from which no traveler returns, do not sleep in a closed room where there is a lighted gas burner.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

"Pan-Broiled Hamburg: (Contributed by Mrs. W.) One pound of top of round of beef put through grinder; add one-half cup of cold water and one teaspoon of scraped raw onion and mix well. Now shape the hamburg steak into four cakes, keeping them the same thickness on the edge as in the center. Heat a cast iron frying pan very hot and put the meat cakes into it. Let cook one minute, then turn and cook on the other side for one minute. Repeat turning after a minute's cooking several times, then turn less frequently. In all, let the cakes fry eight minutes. Spread with softened butter and season with salt before serving."

"Potatoes au Gratin: (Also contributed by Mrs. W.) Put a layer of sliced, boiled potatoes in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Add one teaspoon of butter in bits, season with salt and paprika, then sprinkle a layer of grated, mild, American cheese over all, having this cheese layer one-fourth inch thick or less. Repeat the potato layer, the seasonings, and the cheese layer, till the dish is full. End with the cheese layer and sprinkle one-half cup of cracker crumbs mixed with three tablespoons of melted butter, on top. Slip the dish into a moderate oven to bake for about 20 minutes or till brown. Serve at once. For a change, use grated raw onion and chopped parsley, or use finely-chopped green or red sweet peppers, in place of the cheese."

"Caramel pie: (Contributed by Mrs. D.) This is a good recipe when one has a cupful of canned or preserved plums left over. Drop the beaten yolks of two eggs into a sauce-pan off the fire; add one-half cup of sugar and two cups of sweet milk and mix well, then stir in two tablespoons of flour, one-half cup of softened butter and one cup of preserved plums. Put the mixture over the fire and cook till thickened, then flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla and turn the mixture into a baked crust. Cover with a meringue made by beating the two egg whites stiff with one teaspoon of sugar, and slip the pie into a moderate oven for about ten minutes or till the meringue browns. Note: By adding a few chopped nutmeats to this recipe you will have the Caramel Nut Pie requested by a reader some time ago."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Alfred Cookman, 336 West Pioneer drive, gave a talk today at the Lions' club luncheon at Huntington Park.

Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale of 446 Riverdale drive, who has been ill for several days, is reported better today.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McKeen of Los Angeles were visitors Sunday in the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Borthick, 206 West Elk avenue.

Harry and Neville Richardson left last night for Berkeley, where they will reside. They plan to enter University of California at the beginning of the new year.

Mrs. H. C. Jones of Scranton, Pa., arrived here Saturday to spend the winter with her granddaughter, Mrs. C. H. Chrisman, 311 East Chestnut street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Russell of Hollywood are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ball and Mrs. May C. Ball of 1208 Green street. They arrived Sunday and will remain over Armistice day.

Reports from the bedside of Garfield W. Jones, who has been confined to the Glendale Research hospital for several days on account of illness, are to the effect that he is improving.

Rev. William Moyse, missionary in India for thirty-five years, will conduct services at the Gospel Tabernacle Sunday, November 16. Rev. Moyse came here a few weeks ago and is staying at the Mission Rest Home.

Friends of C. C. McClintock of 736 Portola street will be sorry to learn of the death of his mother, Mrs. H. McClintock, last Thursday, at her Pomona home. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Pomona.

Mrs. Charles Gould of Bangor, Maine, arrived in Glendale last night and will be a guest in the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson, 1317 North Brand boulevard, for a week. Mrs. Gould is an old friend of the Richardson family.

Mrs. E. E. East of 121 West Lexington drive spent yesterday in Los Angeles.

J. H. Ball of 1208 Green street left this morning for Chicago on a business trip.

E. E. East of 121 West Lexington drive left Sunday night for San Francisco on a few days' business trip.

The Stitch and Chatter club, an organization meeting weekly at the Christian church, has as hostesses for their Wednesday gathering, Mrs. Oscar Whitaker and Mrs. J. West.

Mr. and Mrs. William Port, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Alice Korb, of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived in Glendale and are residing at 219 South Adams street. They come to Glendale every year and will be here for six months.

W. F. B. Guerner of 1234 East Orange Grove is improving his already comfortable residence with a new sun parlor. Visiting at the Guerner home is Mrs. Carrie Cole of Joplin, Mo. The latter is a sister of Mrs. Guerner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Pomeroy are now counted among the permanent residents of Glendale, making their home at 1125 East Harvard. They formerly lived in Los Angeles, but prefer the pleasant atmosphere of this city.

At 1132 East Harvard Mrs. Emma F. Brown is building a five-room stucco residence with a garage in the rear. On the lot adjoining on the east, Chas. Auer is erecting a six-room frame with garage. Both homes will be a credit to Glendale.

H. L. Hock has moved his residence from 821 South Glendale avenue to his lot at 112 South Adams. On the place made vacant by the removal of his home Mr. Hock is erecting a large commercial garage, which adds another fine, large building to the growing number in Glendale.

Mrs. S. L. Jackson and Mrs. Justin White of Houston, Texas, are visiting their sister, Mrs. F. Reichart at 316 East Stocker. Both Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. White expressed themselves about Glendale as a city that sits as a jewel in the hills, making them long to become permanent residents of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Prince, Mrs. H. Dustin and C. B. Kling, all of Freeport, Ill., are recent arrivals from the east and are making their homes in Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Prince being located at 1138 East Harvard street. Each of the above had a sentimental aversion to breaking home ties back in the historic old town of Freeport, made famous by the Lincoln-Douglass debates, but are now elated over the prospect of becoming residents of Glendale.

Meet at Tuesday Clubrooms Last Night Decided on November 25th

Arrangements for the annual Charity Ball, to be given by Glendale lodge, No. 1289, B. P. O. E., at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, Tuesday night, November 25, were made at the meeting of the lodge held at the clubhouse last night.

Gerald A. Dockeray is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. The proceeds will go to the Elks charity fund which is used to relieve the needy and provide Christmas cheer.

Six new members were balloted on, and they will be initiated at the meeting Monday night. Pasadena lodge, No. 672, B. P. O. E., will put on the initiatory work.

MEALS FEATURED AT CHANTICLEER

Semi-Weekly Dinners Given At Verdugo Woodlands' Popular Resort

Semi-weekly dinners on Thursdays and Sundays are an attraction recently announced by Mrs. F. A. Paugh for the Chanticleer, 1530 Wabasso way, Verdugo Woodlands. The dinners are served on these days from 5 to 8 o'clock. The Sunday menu includes chicken and hot biscuit. The Chanticleer is beautifully located in the woodlands just a mile south of the Oakmont Country club. Many people, it is stated, have visited the attractive spot and were highly pleased with the dinners. Mrs. Paugh, they declare, is an ideal hostess.

Hear Mrs. Danford

National Education Week was observed at the meeting of the Girls' Friendly society last night at the Guild hall. Mrs. Alma J. Danford, librarian, was the guest at dinner. Later she gave a talk on "The House by the Side of the Road." In her talk Mrs. Danford stated that the library was "the house by the side of the road" and the aim of the library was to be a friend to man. She said the library aimed to be of real service to everyone and to be friendly with all the community. Miss Katherine Delgardo entertained with piano solos and Miss Helen Dearborn gave two readings. The program was followed by an informal discussion. Work on the scrapbooks the society will make for the children in the hospitals and the Christmas sewing will be started at the meeting next Monday night. The dinner was served by Mrs. J. J. Gaulrapp.

Reciprocity Club

The luncheon meeting tomorrow of the Reciprocity club at the Philanthropy and Civics club, South Wilton place, Los Angeles, will be of interest in Glendale, because of the attendance of several Glendale women. Mrs. R. W. Meeker of Glendale, is president of the club. Mrs. Charles H. Toll of Glendale and district president, is to be the principal speaker. The program will be presented by Mrs. Virginia Freeman, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Roberta T. Young, both talented local musicians. Mrs. Meeker is to have as a guest Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club. Katherine V. Sinks will also be a club guest.

Fourth Birthday

Mrs. Albert G. Cornwell of 339 West Garfield street entertained a group of little folk Saturday afternoon at a party for her son, Glenn, the occasion being his fourth birthday. Games were played during the afternoon and later the guests were served with refreshments of ice cream and cake. The table was decorated in patriotic colors, with flag placecards and red, white and blue nut baskets at each place. The birthday cake was white with blue candles and red holders. Horns and caps in patriotic colors were favors. The guests were: Katherine Curtis, Robert Kimball, Mary Janet Kimball, Laura Jean Robinson, Philip and Glenn Cornwell. Mothers of the children were present.

Directs Study

Mrs. John Robert White, jr., directed the review and study yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Parliamentary Law department of the Tuesday Afternoon club. The study was on "Method of Conducting a Meeting." Mrs. P. S. McNutt is to have charge of the meeting in two weeks. The department is to have the booth of Christmas stickers, cards and decorations, November 17 and 18, at the club bazaar. Mesdames E. W. Gilliland, Cleveland and W. M. Brown are the booth committee. Mrs. W. H. Verity, curator, was in charge of the meeting yesterday.

Women of Church

The Woman's union of the First Baptist church will hold the regular all-day meeting at the church Thursday, November 13. The morning session from 10 to 12 o'clock will be devoted to sewing for the White Cross. Members are requested not to bring their lunch as luncheon will be served by district number 2 under Mrs. Bert Marple. The program will be presented immediately following the luncheon.

Represents Club

Mrs. Paul Hoffman, president of the Madrigal club, went to Los Angeles yesterday to a conference of presidents of music clubs of the southern district in the Music Federation. The Madrigal club held weekly rehearsal yesterday at the First Congregational church. During intermission Miss Vera Schlotzhauer gave as a solo, "God Touched the Rose," by Mary Helen Brown.

War Mothers Meet

Mrs. M. E. Dodge, state president of War Mothers, Mrs. Overman of Whittier, district organizer, and several members of the Whittier chapter, are anticipated as guests tomorrow afternoon at the meeting of the Glendale War Mothers at the Glendale Presbyterian church. Mrs. J. M. Cowlin announces that the meeting will begin at 2 o'clock.

Clubs Will Dine

The Rhoda club and the Young Men's Bible club will have dinner together at the meeting tonight at the Glendale Presbyterian church. Dinner is served each Tuesday night at 6:15 o'clock followed by separate meetings of the two clubs. All young people are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

P.-T. A. Speakers

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of the Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher association, and Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, will be speakers Thursday afternoon at the meeting of the Central Parent-Teacher association at the school. The meeting will begin at 3:15 o'clock. Esther R. Jensen, flutist, is to entertain. During the business hour plans will be completed for the harvest party November 21 in the basement of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church.

Plan Card Party

Plans are complete for the card party which will be given by members of the Rodaire club at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse, 330 East Lomita avenue, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Tables will be arranged for bridge and five hundred. Prizes awarded to those having high score. Miss Eva Brehme is arranging for the affair, which is a benefit for the school fund of the Holy Family Catholic church. The public is invited to attend.

At Worley Home

A benefit card party sponsored by the Women's Athletic club will be given Friday afternoon and night, at the home of Mrs. W. W. Worley, 1560 Grand View avenue. The party will begin at 2 o'clock and continue through the afternoon and evening. Tables will be arranged for bridge and five-hundred. Anyone desiring to attend may obtain tickets from members of the Women's Athletic club. Score cards are 50 cents.

Dancing Tonight

Residents of Glendale are planning to attend the victory ball, which will be held at 333 North Brand boulevard tonight under the auspices of Glendale Post, No. 127, American Legion. The hall has been gayly decorated in patriotic colors and novel features have been arranged. The public is invited to attend. All ex-service men having uniforms are requested to wear them.

Pacific P.-T. A.

Mrs. Don Lindley will open her home to members and friends of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association, Thursday November 13, for a silver tea, which will be in the form of a get-acquainted party. The party will be held from 2:30 o'clock to 5 o'clock. All friends of the school are extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Turkey Dinner

A roast turkey dinner will be served by the women of the Broadway Methodist church Thursday night from 6 to 8 o'clock in the social hall of the church. Following the dinner a program of music and recitations will be presented by the male quartet, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Roper, famous singers from Carthage, Missouri.

Class Will Meet

The Princess class of St. Mark's Episcopal church will meet at the Guild hall tomorrow night instead of tonight. The meeting will open at 5:30 o'clock with a supper, each girl bringing some article for the meal. Mrs. Frank W. Parr and Mrs. Philip K. Kemp, are advisers of the class and Miss Lucille Eldridge is the president.

Business Meeting

Business matters will occupy the time tomorrow at the meeting of the Glendale federation, Parent-Teacher associations, at the Harvard High school. Mrs. O. H. Sprading, president, announces that the meeting will be held in room 124, and will begin at 2:15 o'clock.

Kensington Club

Members of the Kensington club are to meet at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue. Mrs. Anna Page, president, asks all to bring scissors and thimbles for work on quilts. Mrs. Tina Hammond will entertain.

Bazaar Thursday

Chapter AH, P. E. O., will hold a bazaar at the home of Mrs. T. C. Young, 400 North Kenwood street, Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. Many articles of fancywork will be on sale, and a program will be given.

JACK CONSIDERS RING RETIREMENT

Dempsey, Enjoying Medium Fortune, Reported to Have Reached Decision

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—From sources close to the gentleman himself comes the intimation that Jack Dempsey is seriously considering a permanent retirement from affairs of the fist, it being alleged that the champion has arrived at a stage where the business of altering another's facial aspect no longer intrigues him.

His retirement, they say, will not be a public one; merely a tacit withdrawal while he continues to hold the title and reap the benefits, financial and otherwise, accruing therefrom.

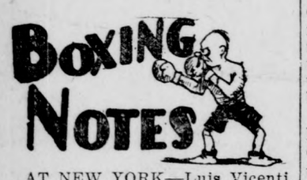
In other words, Dempsey may have lost his interest in fighting, but that will not prevent him from continuing as one of the foremost collectors of rare and well done coins.

$200,000 Trust Fund

Just how much truth there is in the report I am not prepared to say, but it is said by my informant to have originated with Dempsey himself. He told friends in Philadelphia recently that he thought he had made enough money out of fighting and would do no more unless he was forced into it. It was even intimated that Dempsey no longer regards himself as being the perfect physical specimen and that this fact not only laid him open to the possibility of defeat by the first good man happening along but added to the drudgery of training.

That Dempsey has sufficient money to carry him over his declining years is a popular belief. But what the public does not know is that the champion has looked ahead far enough to create a $200,000 trust fund, the principal of which he cannot touch. If the worst comes to the worst, however, he could live quite comfortably off the interest, although it is hardly likely that this will be necessary.

A real battle is expected at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena tonight when Jimmy McLarnin, Belfast flyweight, and Fidel LaBarba, Olympic flyweight champion, resume their argument of several weeks ago when McLarnin won an unpopular decision. Larry Murphy and Jimmy Hackley will meet in the semi-windup. Alex Trambitas and Joe Kelly will step out in the special spot. Other bouts on the card are: Joe Layman and Kid Ledger, Paul Duarte and Sailor Joyce, Babe Harris and Joe Pimenthal, and Jimmy Laventhal and Sailor Berger. Jack Britton, former welterweight champ of the world, and Babe Ruth, home run king, will be ringside fans.



AT NEW YORK—Luis Vicenti, Chile, knocked out Sammy Vogel of New York, ninth round.

AT PITTSBURGH—Jack Zevic, Pittsburgh, won on a foul from Nate Goldman, Philadelphia, third.

AT PHILADELPHIA — Tiger Flowers, Atlanta, knocked out Jerry Hayes, Philadelphia, second. Billy Ryan, Cincinnati, outpointed Bobby Barrett, Philadelphia, ten rounds.

At SALT LAKE—Teddy Gartin, Denver, knocked out Virgil Sparks, Pocatello, Idaho, fourth round.

AT ST. PAUL—Jock Malone won on a foul from Morrie Schlaifer in three rounds; Sammy Leonard knocked out Jack O'Tool in second.

AT EVANSVILLE, Ind.—Eddie Welch, Indianapolis, knocked out Bob Ramsey, Cincinnati, second.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was This Glendale Woman Who Tells Her Experience.

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Glendale case is one of many:

Mrs. J. O. Bigham, 415 W. Stocker St., says: "There was a lameness through the small of my back and a continual soreness over my kidneys. When I stooped, sharp pains darted across my kidneys and these pains were worse when I did my housework. My kidneys didn't act right and I felt tired and all out of sorts. After using Doan's Pills, my kidneys were regulated and the backaches left me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Bigham had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Dick Hoppe Picks Home Run King as Manager for Bout

Dick Hoppe, Glendale's flashy lightweight, is to have a new manager for his bout Friday night with Tommy Carter at Hollywood, when the two boys will mill for the Pacific coast lightweight title. Hoppe's manager will be none other than Babe Ruth, Sultan of Swat. The homerun king made the announcement yesterday. Hoppe is a great friend of Christy Walsh, Ruth's manager, and the Babe is very enthusiastic over his protege.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—This Pat Lester, who is one of the heavies that Tex Rickard has induced to head toward New York, is regarded by two famous Cali-California that he won't do, yet for Dempsey's honors. The two judges are Tim McGrath, once manager of Tom Sharkey, and Spider Kelley, famous second, both of whom have been grooming Patrick.

The fact remains that in his California appearances Pat, who is six feet four, has handed the fans a lot of laughs because of the ability of opponents to hit him with everything but the water bucket.

While the target he makes of himself has led to the opinion in California that he wont do, yet the fact that he has never been knocked down, nor even been made to back up and that he has handed out several knockouts, inclines thoughtful critics to reserve their opinions.

It is certain that Lester is slowly learning to box. He minds his handlers implicitly, never leads with his right, never slugs nor violates other orthodox rules of boxing. All this may make him seem slower and more deliberate than he really is.

He is gradually developing a straight left—the kind that old-time boxers rave about—and is gradually developing the use of his right as a secondary defense and also as a means of assault.

The invincible Pullman Cafe pin squad mixed too many wood omelets for the Frederick's Cafe club on the Recreation Center alleys last night in their peg fracas for the Foothill league lead. Moore of the local kitchen mechanics scattered the most wood of the night, with a total of 646 sticks. Luard of the Crown City aggregation rolled right on his heels with a mark of 633.

Tonight the Rising's Hot Dogs will renew their stick feud with the Red Feather sphere propellers in a major league circuit tilt.

Wife Believes Missing Husband Is Murdered

Routier & Nichols to open negotiations for a sale of the properties.

The sale was virtually completed when Mr. and Mrs. Winnagle left Glendale several weeks ago for Reno, Mrs. Winnagle said. Her husband left her at Reno to go to the mines and close the deal. He later wrote a letter telling her to return to Glendale and await him here. Mrs. Winnagle said she has every reason to believe the sale was made and her husband received the money, amounting to more than $100,000, and that he started for Glendale. Nothing has been heard of him since.

Mrs. Winnagle awaits her husband at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Don Foster, Manhattan place, Verdugo City. "I know he is dead, because he never would leave me unless he had been murdered," she said.

Greatest Play I Ever Saw, As Told By Knute Rockne

Notre Dame's Famous Football Coach
To FORD C. FRICK
International News Service Special Correspondent

The greatest play I ever saw was in the Army-Notre Dame game in 1917. And the man who made it was George Gipp.

Through the first half the West Pointers had outplayed us and were leading 2 to 0. But in the second half we started and carried the ball from midfield to the Army seven-yard line, mainly through the work of Gipp alone.

It was fourth down and the goal to go.

Gipp had been doing the work and Army was set for him. There was one big chance. And Gipp called time out. He knew Army was watching him and he knew if we didn't make that play good we would lose.

The quarterback barked his signals. The ball was snapped and Gipp went breaking into the line—but not with the ball. Brandy, another back had that and he was racing madly in another direction, unguarded, unescorted.

The Army defense was on Gipp smothering him to the ground. But Brandy, unnoticed, slipped around the other side and perched behind the goal posts.

The crowd, of course, sensing the play, cheered Brandy. But the man who won the game was Gipp. He was in there thinking. And he simply outguessed his Army opponents.

To my mind that's the greatest play I've ever seen in all my years of football experience.

LONG BEACH AND PASADENA TO MIX

Rivals of Long Standing Play Saturday Afternoon In Big Rose Stadium

PASADENA, Nov. 11.—Long Beach and Pasadena high school teams will meet here Saturday in the "big game" of the local season. The contest is to be staged in the Tournament of Roses stadium as those in charge are anxious to make the affair a community project and insure the backing of all loyal football fans. The Long Beach game is always the premier grid classic of the local high school schedule and regardless of percentages and games won and lost the two teams always put on a whale of a battle, being rivals of long standing.

Coach Frank Baker's athletes have been rather unfortunate to date, winning only one of their four contests, last week's victory over Santa Ana being their debut into the win column. However, the team is much better than the scores would indicate, injuries and a bunch of tough breaks preventing the squad from showing to the best advantage. Baker will have all of his regulars against the Jackrabbits and the game should be a battle royal.

Tie is Possible

Long Beach has won two games and lost two. If the locals win Saturday the two teams will finish with the same standing and the Bulldogs will be fairly well satisfied in view of the rather poor start in the season.

The Jackrabbits played San Diego last week and lost by one point, thus indicating that the locals are in for a real battle. However, with the support of all loyal fans and the presence of one or two stars who have been unable to play before Coach Baker hopes to gain a victory over his rivals. There is a lot of interest in the game and the locals are making preparations for a big day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Pittsburgh is fortifying its infield against any chance of defects caused by the injury of players next season. The Pirates have taken Chapman away from the Athletics by waiver. He is a shortstop who was with New Haven last year on option, and now and then flashed enough so that he looks like a coming ball player.

If Moore is to go to second base, Pittsburgh will have to bring in one or two infielders to make sure that the team will have sufficient reserve strength. All last season, Moore was in a position where he could play short, second or the outfield.

Dreyfuss evidently is going to pay more attention to young players and quit angling for experienced old timers so much. His infield collectively in 1925 will represent more kid blood than old-time blood. Traynor, the oldest in point of service, has only been a real major leaguer for three years.

The Athletics have brought in Frank McGowan, an outfielder whom they had placed in Milwaukee. Connie Mack cannot get it out of his head that McGowan is to be one of the leading outfielders in the American league. With the experience he has had with the eastern league and the American association, McGowan should be good next season if he ever is going to be. McGowan, Lamar and Simmons ought to prove a speedier outfield than Mack has had in recent years. Miller probably will be kept as a pinch hitter.

When the California clubs come east for the minor league meeting a deal may be consummated transferring Rhyne, the San Francisco shortstop, to one of the eastern clubs. If Peckinpaugh's leg continues to show signs of weakness, Washington may take Rhyne and keep Bluege at third.

Bluege showed that he was a fair shortstop in the world series. However, it would be better to keep him on third, which would be a harder position to fill, and take on a shortstop from outside when Peck steps out. A winter's rest, of course, may do a lot for Peck's leg. But, even if he starts the season, his leg may break down again and then—unless the Senators could show better reserve strength than they did in the world series they might lose their chance at another pennant.

A shortstop who can play as well as Rhyne would give the Washington team a lot of strength on its left side. With McNeely likely to do better than he did in 1924, the outfield proposition appears better, and the Senators have only to look out for an array of pitchers to be set for another fight for the league championship.

There is a trade between two American league clubs somewhat like the three-for-three trade between the Cubs and Pittsburgh, but the identity of the players has not been disclosed. The New York Yanks may be one of the teams figuring in the trade.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

They sure have the spotlight on "Red" Grange. "Red" tears off yards on the gridiron with the same frequency and ease that 84-year-old Dan O'Leary tears off miles a-foot. "Red" is worth more on the hoof than probably any other student of everything but what the faculty prescribes in its curriculum.

Shades of Tad Jones, Brickley, Hardwick, Mahan and that "devil in moleskins," Walter Eckersall, who incidentally once roamed the college halls of Chicago U, whose team Saturday under the eagle eye of Stagg gave what wise ones hold as the first setback Illini plus "Red" has received this year. Score was tie but figuring "Red's" ability and the apparent so-so condition of Stagg's warriors, set-back is right.

What a hit "Red" will make on Michigan boulevard and along Lake Shore drive in the Windy City when he can 'lay off' training and step out among the Windy City's fair sex. If "Red" tears around the loop district the way he has covered ground on the gridiron Chicago's cops will have to get under roller skates to keep track of him. They don't give much away for nothing in the land of the stock yards but "Red" probably will be invited to partake of refreshments if he's good.

Over in Spain they're stealing revolutionary thunder from our little playmates below the Rio Grande. News from the seat of Barcelona's idea of celebrating our Armistice day says that "Spain has started executing anarchistic gunmen." They're just starting. They expect to finish the game sometime before Xmas. After they get throught bull-fighters will be about the sum of the population. What has become of the stilleto, if its gunmen they're executing?

Speaking of anarchists reminds that Emma Goldman is sneaking around corners over in London looking for an opportunity to get near enough to salt water to grab a ride back to the country the Republicans recently got majority stock in. Emma was given the "bum's rush" off Ellis Island a few years ago and told that if she never came back they wouldn't think she had been gone long.

America's sporting world lost a lot of fireworks when they lost Emma. She took her display over to the land of whiskers and bootleg volga thinking probably that Trotsky would let her set them off. Trotsky didn't think any more of Emma's company than Ellis Island did. London apparently has been too busy showing Ramsay MacDonald where he was wrong and watching the Prince of Wales duplicate some of the waltz steps he learned on Long Island to worry about Emma.

Here's a new record in the henhouse circuit. A white leghorn cackler yclept Calpurnia, hibernating in Bloomington, Calif., made a hole-in-one over the henhouse links when she lofted from the hen's settee a cackleberry that measures six and one-half inches around the equator and nine inches from pole to pole. Maybe an ostrich from the farm in Pasadena was pinch-hitting for Calpurnia. Bloomington says its a record cackleberry and Bloomington's word is law.

Passage of the twelve-round boxing bill apparently has seeped through into New York's White Light district. Benny Leonard rises to remark that he "may be induced" to put 'em on with Joe Benjamin around Washington's birthday—in Vernon. Vernon rises to remark—'Why wait for Washington's birthday?'

Rain for which Southern California has waited these many months put a crimp in Sunday baseball, the Ascot races and a few other sporting events over the week-end. All these can afford to wait on Old Man Rain when he takes a notion to spill the beans. Rain was needed before sports and you can't have sports in Southern California without rain playing first. There wouldn't be no one left to sport.

FOLEY PILLS REACHED THE SORE SPOT

Mrs. Ellen Reigard, South Fork, Pa., writes: "I had been suffering with my kidneys and nothing seemed to touch the aching spot until I procured FOLEY PILLS, with wonderful results." FOLEY PILLS, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, gently and thoroughly flush and cleanse the kidneys and help to eliminate poisonous waste matter. Try a bottle today and you will be well pleased with the relief obtained. The use of FOLEY PILLS increases kidney activity.

Anarchist Emma Turns Eyes on United States

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Emma Goldman's heart is turning toward the land from which she was deported, whose government her anarchistic teachings sought to overthrow. Her greatest desire is to return to the United States and she hopes to be able to devise some means whereby she can accomplish her entry there. She will be the guest at a banquet Wednesday to which Rebecca West and other celebrities have been invited, and there Miss Goldman intends to tell the world her views and hopes.

ORDINANCE OF INTENTION NO. 998

AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE DECLARING ITS INTENTION TO ORDER THE WIDENING OF SAN FERNANDO ROAD IN SAID CITY.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE

SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require and it is the intention of the Council of the City of Glendale to order the following improvement to be made, to-wit:

First: That San Fernando Road be widened from the northeasterly extension of the southeasterly line of Oxford Street (30' wide) as shown on map of Tract No. 1578, recorded in Book 20, pages 158 and 159 of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California, said northeasterly extension being coincident with the southeasterly boundary line of the City of Glendale, to the northeasterly extension of the northwesterly line of Lot 1, Tract No. 2276, as per map recorded in Book 22, page 169 of Maps, Records of said County, said northeasterly extension being coincident with the northwesterly boundary line of the City of Glendale.

SECTION 2. That the land necessary and convenient to be taken for the improvement described in Section 1, sub-section First hereof, is within the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, and is all that portion of said City of Glendale lying within the following described boundary lines, to-wit:

Beginning at a point in the southwesterly line of Lot 22, Treadwell Tract, as per map recorded in Book 11, page 180 of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California, where said southwesterly line is intersected by the northeasterly extension of the southeasterly line of Oxford Street (30' wide), as shown on the map of Tract No. 1578, recorded in Book 20, pages 158 and 159 of Maps, Records of said County, said point being a point in the southeasterly boundary line of the City of Glendale; thence northeasterly along the northeasterly extension of the southeasterly line of said Oxford Street following the southeasterly boundary line of the City of Glendale to an intersection with a line drawn ten (10) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the southwesterly lines of Lots 22, 21 and 20, said Treadwell Tract; thence northwesterly along said line so drawn to a point therein where said line so drawn is intersected by a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of said Lot 20; thence northwesterly in a direct line, crossing Rosslyn Street, to a point in the southeasterly line of Lot 1, said Treadwell Tract, where said southeasterly line is intersected by a line drawn twenty-five (25) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of said Lot 1; thence westerly in a direct line to a point in a line drawn ten (10) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the southwesterly lines of Lots 1, 2 and 3, said Treadwell Tract, where said line so drawn is intersected by a line drawn fifteen (15) feet northwesterly from and parallel to the southeasterly line of said Lot 1; thence northwesterly along a line drawn ten (10) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line of San Fernando Road (66' wide), to a point therein where said line so drawn is intersected by a line drawn fifteen (15) feet southeasterly from and parallel to the southeasterly line of Dolores Street; thence northerly in a direct line to a point in the southeasterly line of Dolores Street where said southeasterly line is intersected by a line drawn twenty-five (25) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line and its extensions of said San Fernando Road (66' wide); possession of said franchise; provided, however, that no percentage shall be paid for the first five (5) years succeeding the date of this franchise.

It shall be the duty of the grantee of said franchise and its successors or assigns to file with the Clerk of the City of Glendale at the expiration of one year after said period of five (5) years, and at the expiration of each and every year thereafter, a statement verified by the oath of said grantee or its successors or assigns, or by the oath of the manager or other authorized officer of said grantee, or its successors or assigns, showing in detail the total gross earnings collected or received by said grantee or its successors or assigns during the preceding twelve (12) months for the use, sale, rental or furnishing of electricity for light, power, heat or any other purpose whatsoever from any part of the system for the construction and operation of which said franchise is granted, and within ten (10) days after the time for filing the aforesaid statement, it shall be the duty of said grantee, its successors or assigns, to pay to the City Treasurer of the City of Glendale, the aggregate sum of said percentage upon the amount of the gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation or posession of said franchise, and, if the amount paid is incorrect in the judgment of the City Council, it may order the payment of such additional sum as it may find due hereunder, and if not paid the same may be collected by suit. Any neglect, omission or refusal by said grantee, or its successors or assigns, to file said verified statement or to pay said percentage of the said gross annual receipts at the time or in the manner hereinbefore provided shall work a forfeiture of said franchise and of all the rights thereunder to the City of Glendale.

(e) That whenever any portion of the territory covered by said franchise shall be annexed to, or otherwise become a part of, any other municipal corporation, or of the County of Los Angeles, or any other county, the rights reserved under said franchise to the City of Glendale or any officer thereof shall inure to the benefit of such municipal corporation or county, and its appropriate officers.

(f) That the said grantee or its successors or assigns shall not sell, transfer or assign said franchise or any of the rights or privileges granted thereby, except by a duly executed instrument in writing filed in the office of the Clerk of the City of Glendale; and provided further, that nothing in said franchise contained shall be construed to grant to said grantee or its successors or assigns, any right to sell, transfer or assign said franchise or any of the rights and privileges thereby granted, except in the manner aforesaid.

(g) That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise shall work a forfeiture thereof and the said City, by its City Council, may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited and may exclude said grantee or its successors or assigns from further use of the highways of said city under said franchise; and the said grantee or its successors or assigns shall thereupon surrender, upon demand by appropriate instrument in writing, all rights in and to the same, and said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null, void and of no effect.

The grant of said franchise shall be effective only upon the further condition that the grantee shall, at all times during the life of said franchise, keep on file with the City Council a bond running to said City of Glendale in the penal sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), with sureties to be approved by said City Council, conditioned upon said bidder well and truly observing, fulfilling and performing each and every term and condition of said franchise, and that in case of any breach of condition of said bond the whole amount of the penal sum therein named shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties upon said bond; provided, however, that if said bond shall not be so filed, the award of said franchise shall be set aside and the money paid therefor shall be, in the discretion of the City Council, re-advertised and again offered for sale in the same manner and under the same restrictions as herein provided. If said bond be not so filed and kept on file, said franchise shall be void and of no effect, and any money paid therefor or thereunder shall be forfeited.

Said franchise shall be granted on the condition that all expenses of sale and of advertising said franchise shall be paid by the successful bidder, and unless so paid said franchise shall be forfeited.

NOTICE IS ALSO HEREBY GIVEN that sealed bids in writing will be received for said franchise up to ten o'clock A. M. on the 4th day of December, 1924, and at the time above mentioned, and in the Council room of the City Council of the City of Glendale, any and all sealed bids will be opened; that all bids must be for the payment of a stated sum in gold coin of the United States, and that the said franchise will be struck off, sold and awarded to the person, firm or corporation who makes the highest cash bid therefor, provided only that at the time of the opening of said bids any responsible person, firm or corporation present or represented may bid for said franchise or privilege a sum of not less than ten per cent (10%) above the highest sealed bid therefor, and said bid so made may be raised not less than ten per cent (10%) by any other responsible bidder, and said bidding may so continue until finally said franchise shall be struck off, sold and awarded to the highest bidder therefor in gold coin of the United States by said City Council.

That each sealed bid shall be accompanied with cash or a certified check payable to the Treasurer of the City of Glendale for the full amount of such bid, and no sealed bid shall be considered unless said cash or check is enclosed therewith, and the successful bidder shall deposit at least ten per cent (10%) of the amount of his bid with the Clerk of the City of Glendale before the franchise shall be struck off to him. If the successful bidder shall fail to make such deposit immediately, then and in that case his bid shall not be received and shall be considered as void, and the said franchise shall then and there be again offered for sale to the bidder who shall make the highest cash bid therefor, subject to the same conditions as to deposit as above mentioned. Said procedure shall be had until said franchise is struck off, sold and awarded to a bidder who shall make the necessary deposit of at least ten per cent (10%) and in case said party shall fail to deposit with the Clerk of the City of Glendale the remaining ninety per cent (90%) of his bid within twenty-four (24) hours after its acceptance, the award to it of said of the amount of his bid therefor, as herein provided.

That the successful bidder shall deposit with the Clerk of the City of Glendale within twenty-four (24) hours after the acceptance of his bid the remaining ninety per cent (90%) of the amount thereof, and, in case he or it shall fail to do so, then the said deposit theretofore made shall be forfeited and the said award of said franchise shall be void, and the said franchise shall then and there by said City Council, in the same manner and under the same restrictions as hereinbefore provided, be again offered for sale to the highest bidder therefor and be struck off, sold and awarded; franchise shall be set aside and the deposit theretofore made by it shall be forfeited, and no further proceedings for a sale of said franchise shall be had, unless the same shall be re-advertised and again offered for sale in the manner hereinbefore provided.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the successful bidder for such franchise or privilege struck off, sold or awarded to him or it shall file, and keep on file, a bond running to the City of Glendale with at least two good and sufficient sureties to be approved by said City Council, in the penal sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), conditioned that such bidder shall well and truly observe, fulfil and perform each and every term and condition of such franchise, and that in case of any breach of condition of such bond, the whole amount of the penal sum therein named shall be taken and deemed to be liquidated damages, and shall be recoverable from the principal and sureties upon said bond. Said bond shall be filed with said City Council within five (5) days after the said franchise is awarded, and upon the filing and approval of such bond, the said franchise shall, by said City Council, be granted to the person, firm or corporation to whom it has been struck off, sold or awarded, and in case said bond shall not be so filed, the award of said franchise shall be set aside, and any money paid therefor shall be forfeited.

The City Council hereby expressly reserves the right to reject any or all bids for said franchise.

TURKEY COST DEPENDS ON WEATHER

Thermometer Dictates Price Public Pays, Production Is Above Normal

By J. C. BOYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—"Some of the white meat and a piece of the leg." Everybody knows what they are going to ask the carver to do for them when they face the groaning board November 27. But nobody knows what it is going to cost. Only the thermometer can tell them that and even the weather man is likely to be wrong.

When it comes to turkeys, the weather is the greatest factor in determining the price. Production of birds throughout the country this year undoubtedly is heavy. It has been heavy for several years, as more and more people went into the business of raising turkeys. But perhaps this fact is being over emphasized this year by "the trade." "The trade" never is anxious to have the market look too favorable at Thanksgiving time.

For the grower has two possibilities each year. He can ship his birds at Thanksgiving, sending smaller turkeys to market and running the chance of getting a good stiff price. Or he can take them "off the range," put them on feed and ship them for Christmas and New Year's. In the latter case he will send larger fowls to market but must pay the additional feed cost of fattening them. If the market is overloaded at Thanksgiving, the price is likely to be low with a consequent stiff increase at Christmas.

Weather Main Factor

But the weather is the main thing for both grower and consumer. Turkeys are delicate birds. Few are shipped on the hoof for that reason. Turkey shipped here from Virginia, for example, is very likely to pine gently and die in a few days. Therefore the largest part of the supply is shipped dressed. The dry picked birds always bring the best price. In their case, they are hung up, the feathers stripped from them, and left overnight until all trace of bodily heat has disappeared. Then they are packed in barrels and shipped.

If the weather is warm, they frequently spoil in transit. The same is true if they are started in a cold snap which moderates before destination is reached. With the thermometer above 32 degrees and likely to remain so, growers are compelled to ship in refrigerator cars which adds to the expense both to them and to the consumer.

The wet picked birds are scalded, the feathers removed, and packed in barrels with layers of ice between. If the weather is warm enough to melt this ice before they reach the dealers, they spoil even more quickly than their dry picked brothers and sisters. They turn green and so far as the high class trade is concerned, are a total loss. Frequently dealers wash them and fix them up but they are anything but a delicacy thereafter.

Cranberry Market

Fine big birds in prime condition always command excellent prices, no matter what the general trend of the market may be. For this reason Virginia and Maryland birds are in special demand here. The climatic conditions in those states seem to favor size and the distance to be shipped is relatively small. However, thousands of Texas turkeys reach this market every year. Last season some remarkably fine specimens came from North Dakota and were marketed to advantage.

The stocks of cold storage turkeys will have a big influence this season in holding down the price of anything but the finest turkeys. These stocks are heavy this year as thousand were carried over from last season when some markets were glutted by last minute rush and by growers. In general, however, authorities state that it is safe to count on paying from 60 to 72 cents a pound for the piece de resistance of the Thanksgiving dinner.

As to the accompanying cranberry sauce, the cost bids fair to be stable. In the east big owners have a marketing organization which is one of the best cooperative concerns of its kind. The cranberry market will not be glutted nor will prices be extraordinarily high, according to present indications.

Girl Wins In Slander Case Against Senator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—District of Columbia supreme court has awarded Miss Ethel Chrane, a government clerk, $7500 in her suit against former Congressman Manuel Herrick of Oklahoma, alleging malicious slander and defamation of character. Miss Chrane's home is at Salisbury, Mo.

Orient's Rice Demand To Double U. S. Acreage

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—Rice acreage may be doubled or tripled next year because of heavy demands for California rice from the Orient. Shortage of the crop in Japan and the falling off in the California crop, which is 20 per cent under that of last year, have brought high prices.

SEEKS LANDING PLACE

LONG BEACH, Nov. 11.—Merchants and navy officers have appealed to the City Council to establish a landing place here for motor ships from the Pacific fleet. Present facilities are unsatisfactory for the sailors, it is said.

CLUB GETS BOUNTY MONEY

SANTA ANA, Nov. 11.—The Ebell club of this city has received $20 from a party of hunters who killed a mountain lion in the northern part of the state recently as it was just about to attack a fawn deer. The money was sent them by the state as a bounty on the lion's pelt.

WANT SLOGAN FOR CITY

BALBOA, Nov. 11.—The winter clime of this seaside resort, with its inland lagoons, will be exploited through publicity in the east as well as the west, according to George Neill, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. A prize is now being offered for an appropriate slogan for the city.

NEW COURSES PLANNED

ANAHEIM, Nov. 11.—F. B. Steelhead, instructor of journalism in the local high school, predicts that all preparatory institutions soon will have courses in manufacturing, agriculture, electric science, music and medicine in all their branches, advertising, publicity and publishing, all of which will replace the decadent courses.

FILM MEN FROM BERLIN

HOLLWOOD, Nov. 11.—Dr. E. Kallman, president of the Ufa Film Co., Berlin, accompanied by Eric Pommer, is in Hollywood conferring with producers relative to a distribution merger. While the visitors are loud in their praises for American methods, they also commented on the extravagance which is not permitted in continental studios—not even in dress.

MILLION IN COUNTY FUNDS

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—County Treasurer F. G. Mitchell has practically $1,000,000 in county funds on deposit at the present time. Tax payments are aiding materially in keeping the county in the "millionaire class," the collections totalling $25,000 daily with an increase as December 1 draws close.

TAKES ALL RIVER'S FLOW

YUMA, Ariz., Nov. 11.—For seventy-six days beginning August 1 and ending October 16, according to the official report here, the Imperial Irrigation district canal, which supplies ranches on both the American and Mexican sides of the border, took the entire flow of the Colorado river, and all of it was used for irrigation and commercial consumption within the valley.

BOOST FOR SUNKIST TRAIL

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 11.—The Riverside County Chamber of Commerce will distribute 10,000 postal card maps of the Sunkist trail from Phoenix to Los Angeles, routing winter tourists through this county. The Auto club as well as Phoenix and Denver motoring bureaus will assist in the distribution of the cards.

CROP INSURANCE PROGRAM

SANTA ANA, Nov. 11.—A. M. Stanley and E. E. Campbell, who will represent Orange county at the annual California Farm Bureau federation meeting in San Francisco this week, have been instructed to propose the formation of a crop insurance program on lines suggested by Tom Talbert.

LOS ANGELES

By Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—When it was learned here today that Mae Murray, film star, had been registered alone for a week at an exclusive Los Angeles hotel, reports were circulated that the actress had left her husband, Robert Z. Leonard, motion picture director. Miss Murray, however, told International News Service it was merely a case of "neighbors' dogs."

"The dogs wouldn't let me sleep at home so I had to seek a hotel," said Miss Murray. "This place is just a village anyway. I wish I were back in New York."

Miss Murray would not comment on a report that Eric von Stroheim, instead of her husband, will direct her in future pictures.

Miss Ruth Mitchell and Richard Tucker, film luminaries, who were married at the Glenwood Mission Inn in Riverside Saturday night, on Sunday were hosts at a dinner party with Miss Marjorie Rambeau as a special guest.

John Nefroney, Jr., aged 22, who was prosecuted in Santa Ana, on a charge of having falsely sworn to the age of his wife, Charlene Howard of Hollywood, whom her mother alleges was only 13, is a free man today, the district attorney there having dismissed the case.

An ordinance making jaywalking illegal has been prepared by the city attorney's office at the suggestion of Miller McClintock, traffic expert. The council will consider the legislation this week.

Due to efficiency in the district attorney's office, it is reported, there is a plan on foot to drop one criminal department of the superior court.

RECREATION MEET IN SANTA BARBARA

Western Division Gathering Has Instructive Program Tucker Reports

The western division community recreation conference held in Santa Barbara Thursday, Friday and Saturday last week was an interesting and instructive gathering, according to R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of recreation, who attended the Thursday and Friday sessions.

Every phase of the recreation program was touched upon by prominent recreation men and women throughout the state and from as far east as Salt Lake City. Municipal and community recreation departments in the various cities of the state are broadening and taking in a great many more activities than the actual playground program.

Combining Forces

Emphasis was placed on the correlating of municipal school and community recreation facilities. The trend in thought along recreational lines, according to many of the speakers, is toward the combining of all the forces of recreation and thereby using the buildings, swimming pools, and other facilities to the limit.

Business sessions of the conference began at 9:15 a. m. and continued until after 10 o'clock each night. A feature of the entertainment was a play, "The Torch-Bearers," presented in Lobrero theatre by the Community Arts association of Santa Barbara.

SISTER POLLY CO. LEASES PROPERTY

Candy Firm Leases Store On South Brand for Glendale Branch

The store room at 223 South Brand boulevard has been leased for a period of years to the Sister Polly Candy Co., for a Glendale branch store, Myron Runyan, manager of the business property department of the Frank Meline Co., 227 South Brand boulevard, reported today.

The Sister Polly Candy Co., operates on a co-operative plan, whereby employes share ninety per cent of the profits, Mr. Runyan said. The executives are W. L. Thompson, Fred Sturgess and J. McGibben.

In making this announcement, Mr. Runyan reported a new department, known as the business opportunities department, has been added to the local office of the Frank Meline Co., with W. R. Parks as manager. It was stated the policy of this department will be to bring to Glendale new capital, new business and new people to take over old and established business.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Nov. 11.—The Halloween dance given by members of the La Crescenta Woman's club was a marked success, opening the social season for the winter. Saadi, the East India seeress, was kept busy telling the future to those brave enough to be curious. With her two veiled slaves to guard her well-curtained room, the crystal gazer was a marked contrast to the modern decorations and music.

The school auditorium had been decorated for the occasion by Mesdames Louise Erwin, Anne Aiken, V. O. Miller, Charles Turck and F. Sullivan. The punch table supported a black witches' cauldron from which flowed refreshing punch, pumpkin pie, coffee, doughnuts and apples which were speedily disposed of with the efficient help of Harry Fowler of Verdugo City. Mesdames Slutman, Louise Erwin and Anne Aiken, attired in appropriate Halloween costumes, dispensed the dainties. A sum upwards of $40 was received for the building fund.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the club will have the regular business meeting when only members will be admitted. A feature of the afternoon will be the demonstration of cooking given by Miss Dowling of the Corn Food Products Co. Miss Dowling will make salads during her demonstration.

The home economics department of the club met at the home of Mrs. Zelpha Merritt, when they were entertained at lunch which was prepared by three demonstrators.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter of Los Angeles avenue, Verdugo City, are the proud parents of a little daughter, who arrived early Sunday morning. Mother and child are doing nicely.

Building Materials In Demand, Hardware Also

ST. PAUL, Nov. 11.—Building materials and hardware are in better demand than usual at this time. There is a slight surplus of labor in the building trades but no unemployment situation is likely.

USE SCOTCH PLAID

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The vogue of Scotch plaid is by no means over. Some remarkably handsome sports coats shown here today are of wool in gay Scotch plaid, with the hems deeply fringed.

HIGH SCHOOLS IN ARMISTICE HONOR

Broadway and Harvard Hold Appropriate Services For Dead Heroes

Appropriate Armistice day assemblies were held yesterday at both the Broadway and Harvard High schools. The observance at the main school was featured by an illustrated lecture by Elmer Worthy, member of the faculty who fought in France with the 362nd regiment of the 91st division and awarded the distinguished service cross by congress for extreme valor. Mr. Worthy talked on France and the war, showing many scenes taken on the battlefield and of the devastated areas after the armies had passed over. A violin trio, salute to the flag and the singing of "America" by the student body were other features on the program.

At the Harvard school the observance took the form of a recital by the mixed chorus of boys and girls of the school. Both programs were under the direction of a patriotic program committee composed of George O. Lockwood, chairman; Miss Hazel Allin, Miss E. W. Plaw and Mrs. Rodgers.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Nov. 11.—This community observed Armistice day today, led by the local American Legion post. Patriotic exercises featured the occasion.

The executive board of the Rockdale P.-T. A. held its regular monthly meeting yesterday at the schoolhouse.

The Los Angeles City Council passed favorably last week on an appropriation for a police garage in the Eagle Rock district, to be constructed on the lot at the rear of the City Hall. The estimated cost of the building is $1100.

A hope chest valued at $250 is to be given away at the bazaar scheduled for November 14 at the Women's Twentieth Century club, it is announced. The bazaar is for the benefit of the new St. Dominic's school now rising at the corner of Merton and Maywood avenues.

The second Junior Auxiliary dance of the winter season will take place on the third Friday of November, it is announced. Invitations will soon be out. Mrs. E. W. Thompson, who arranges the young people's dances, promises that the music and all features of this dance will be the best that can be provided.

Lunches are being held 12 o'clock daily at the Methodist church annex, in connection with the Community Chest drive, now on. The first two lunches were donated by the committee. The Wednesday lunch is donated by H. G. Warren, local drive leader, and the Thursday lunch by A. S. Packard.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Shaff, who have spent the past five months in the east, have returned home. Their destination was Michigan, the former home of Mrs. Shaff. They stopped to visit at Denver, Col., Monmouth, Ill., and Fort Cobb, Okla. They went in their car and camped along the way.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Nov. 11.—A parade and patriotic exercise led by the American Legion marked the passage of Armistice day in this city.

William Jennings Bryan is expected to speak in Burbank Sunday, November 30.

The delay in definitely setting the date for this celebration has been occasioned by the inability of the committee to get a certain promise from the well-known orator to be present and make the address. The committee has been working through Mr. Bryan's son, who lives in Los Angeles, who has informed the committee that he believes that it will be possible to get his illustrious father to fill such an engagement.

Ralph Ford, a Los Angeles investor, has begun construction of a business block at the southeast corner of San Fernando boulevard and Tujunga avenue. A permit was taken out for $20,000 and it is reported that this sum may be increased before the building is completed. There will be six business rooms. The lot frontage is 105 feet on the boulevard by 70 feet on Tujunga avenue.

Included in the list of streets to be improved in Los Angeles, under the bond issue of $5,000,000 which was voted to carry out a major traffic plan in that city, is Riverside drive, from Dayton avenue in that city to the proposed Crescent street bridge over the Los Angeles river at the Burbank boundary line. This is a distance of seven miles, with a width of 200 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hartley of 274 Verdugo avenue returned home recently from Salem, Iowa, where they went several months ago to rebuild business property which was destroyed by fire. They were accompanied by their two sons, Glen and Edgar Hartley.

Thursday Club Meeting To Plan Annual Bazaar

Thursday Afternoon club will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, 1255 South Maryland avenue. The afternoon will be spent in work in preparation for the annual club bazaar to be held in December.

Pythons have been known to swallow a whole deer at one gulp.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Memories of war time! Again it is Armistice Day! The tramp of thousands of men in the service! The fluttering flags! The bands blaring patriotic melody!

Cease firing! Eleven o'clock, the 11th day of November, 1918! All over the world one delirious cry of joy six years ago! Americans fraternizing with the Germans as the French sat scowling, righteously so, at the mess they all had made in the battlefields of Flanders.

Everybody glad? We'll say so! Somebody sad? Certainly! A day for tears of gladness and smiles of sadness—and yet:

In Huntington Park yesterday an American Legion speaker tried to describe Armistice Day to members of the Rotary club. The writer heard him. The man was no orator. In a way he got his message across, but it made one think deeply as to just what Armistice Day means.

It is not Memorial Day. It is not Fourth of July. It is not alone to honor the hero dead. It is not to commemorate the signing of the Declaration of Independence by the Thirteen Colonies of America. Nor is it a National Defense day. Nor is it alone dedicated to Americanism. It is something greater.

Armistice Day might well date back to the early Greeks and Romans for its theme. It is the expression of the free man that tyranny shall not rule this earth. It is the symbol of the saying that "Right always triumphs over might." Aye, even more than that.

Armistice Day marks a new birth for a large portion of the world's nations. So international in scope is Armistice Day that the German, the Czecho-Slovak, the Australian, the American, the Englishman, Italian and Frenchman alike may celebrate it. For it represents all that the world war made possible. There is no need to elucidate. The very thought of the changing world these last six years presents pages upon pages of history in book after book. Roll them all in one and you have Armistice Day!

Glendale in its own way is observing Armistice Day. So is every other community in the nation. Under the leadership of the American Legion the former service men are brought into reunion. Arthur Brisbane today tritely comments that in a few years they will have taken the place of the G. A. R. in the eyes of the younger generation.

But for the present these soldiers and sailors, returned to civilian life, are the coursing blood of all social, political and commercial activity. Their service in the nation's hour of need bespeaks their ability to cope with the problems of the day.

However, the former service man has found an ally in the conduct of affairs. During the war the women became self-assertive and more. They ran the street railways. (How well we remember the Kansas City conductorettes, to say nothing of Washington, Chicago and Los Angeles ambulance drivers, elevator operators, ad infinitum).

Indeed, they became so self-assertive that they were granted equal suffrage—well-earned honor that it was. And at this last election they showed what their votes would do! Not only that, but the women captured many high offices in fair competition. And they will administer those offices, be it governor of Texas or Wyoming, with ability equal to men.

But there is thought to be given to this modern femininity. In a questionnaire sent 5000 former girl students of the University of California less than one-third expressed a desire to marry! Perhaps they have not met the right man! Again, it may be a matter of education. The writer believes there is something in both arguments, but the real crux of the situation is that the self-assertive woman refuses to be dictated to. And not until men get down off the pedestal on which they have been placed throughout the ages until this twentieth century, will they be able to overcome the natural inclination of women to live as they please.

Now that they have suffrage they are using sabotage, as it were, to gain absolute freedom! Mothers of the old school will say the nay to this, but do they know their daughters? In the most expressive term available one must answer "Nix."

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Nov. 11.—Verdugo Hills Post, No. 288, of the American Legion, entertained with a dinner last night in honor of the visit of State Commander Coombs. The affair was held at the Bluebird cafe.

Manager Frank Boyle of the Montrose theatre is strong with the children of the La Crescenta valley after the matinee given them, free of charge, Saturday afternoon. The house was filled to capacity with kiddies, with a sprinkling of mothers who had little tots with them. Mr. Doyle welcomed his guests with an appropriate speech.

Mrs. Bernice Turner has opened a Kiddie Garden where children may receive kindergaten instruction at nominal rates. Lunch is taken care of in the new school. Mrs. Turner's school is located on Waltonia drive, one block east of Montrose avenue.

Twelve of the largest liners afloat used the Southampton harbor in three days and the growth of popularity of the new floating dry dock has caused English shippers to predict that it will be the most used port in the world.

PAY TRIBUTE TO HEROES OF LAND

English Vets and Relatives Of War Dead Gather at Cenotaph In London

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Hundreds of war veterans and relatives of fallen soldiers were gathered today at the cenotaph before the dawn of a brilliant November day for the Armistice day services.

Many of them bore wreaths to lay on the memorial to England's "unknown soldier," but the public was requested not to place flowers on the monument, as the high piled blossoms and wreaths would choke the passageway after the services at the cenotaph.

Cabinet at Abbey

The newspapers reported a number of incidents as a result of mobs threatening persons who failed to observe the two minutes of silence in respect to the war dead.

All members of the royal family and the entire cabinet recently inducted under Premier Stanley Baldwin were to attend special services at Westminster abbey and at the unknown soldier's grave.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Nov. 11.—Annual election of officers will be part of the business to be conducted tonight by the Chamber of Commerce at the school auditorium. A proposition which has created wide interest here will also be voted on, that of amending the constitution of the chamber to eliminate the board of directors and delegating their powers to members in open meetings or committees appointed in open meetings. Wallace M. Morgan proposed this amendment at the last meeting, when action was deferred until this month.

A collision Saturday afternoon between an automobile and a motorcycle resulted in injuries to Harold Orpin, 648 East Michigan avenue. T. B. Moore, 1271 North Chester, was driving the car, and Orpin, who is a postal employe, was riding the motorcycle. Orpin was cut and bruised, and the motorcycle badly damaged, while a wheel was broken on the automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Morgan of 355 Marshall street have purchased a house at 119 Sinclair avenue, Glendale, where they plan to make their home. Mr. Morgan has for several years been engaged in real estate subdivision work and building in Tujunga, and will open an office in Glendale, but will continue active interest in Tujunga property. His brother, S. J. Morgan, is associated with him, and has charge of the Tujunga office.

Six miles of pipe lines and 277 water meters have been installed by the Haines Canyon Water Co. in the ten months of 1924 ending October 31. In addition to this, two new pumping plants were built for emergency use. These have not been found necessary yet, the supply of water being maintained by the regular equipment. A gasoline engine forms an auxiliary power reserve to the electric pumping motors.

Walter Jones of Los Angeles, who has just returned from a six weeks' trip to New Jersey, was the guest of Tujunga friends Sunday at dinner, during which he announced his marriage in the East. Mrs. Jones will arrive in California next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Sugalis, of Florence street, spent Sunday in Pasadena as guests of friends.

A special program has been arranged for observation of Armistice day tonight by the Women's club. American Legion post, No. 250, will also observe the anniversary with appropriate ceremonies.

C. H. Hahn, 430 East Florence avenue, Bell, is at the Tujunga sanitarium, being treated for injuries received Saturday night, when the car he was driving skidded off the Michigan avenue pavement at Honolulu avenue and turned over twice, landing in a culvert. Hahn sustained a punctured lung, seven broken ribs and a fractured wrist, but is reported recovering. He was treated by Dr. Jelinek of Tujunga at the sanitarium, where he was rushed by N. C. Berry, who was passing at the time of the accident.

According to reports made by Deputy Sheriffs Gill and Coulter of the night flying squadron, who investigated the accident, Hahn had a recently emptied liquor bottle in his car. He was driving east on Michigan avenue and, in avoiding a collision with a car driven by C. L. Doney of Norwalk, Hahn lost control of his car to the extent of skidding off the pavement. His car hit the culvert and turned over twice before coming to a stop.

Overpower Watchman To 'Set' $200,000 Fire

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Two firemen were injured, more than 100 persons were driven from their beds and $200,000 damage was caused here today by fire of incendiary origin which swept through the lumber yards of Zechman & Co. The incendiaries first overpowered a watchman and left him bound and gagge da block from the plant.

Electric lighting is unknown to many people of Canton, China, and vicinity.

GLENDALE PROPERTY

want you to take a trip with us through a new home, Kenneth road district. We consider this home to be just a little bit better built, more tastefully decorated and practically designed than any other similarly priced home in or around Glendale. Here is a feeble attempt at an adequate description of this most desirable offer:

The sprinkler system, for the lawns, is entirely controlled from the front porch—a great convenience. The cement retaining walls, driveways, etc., are A-1.

Under the stucco is diagonal sheething of 1x4 boards, then heavy paper, hog wire and FIVE coats of stucco.

Inside—you enter through a massive Southern gum door, a large living room, papered with heavily embossed paper ($4 per roll). Southern gum finish to the woodwork, Batchelder tile fireplace, and just the right kind and design of electrical fixtures are the decorations here. The hardware throughout the home is solid brass with dull finish.

Dining room is bright and cheery with decorations exactly the same as living room. Off the living room is a room with same finish, planned either for bedroom, or library. Two other bedrooms, tile bath with grade A plumbing, good sized kitchen, with tile sink and fine cupboard arrangement, a furnished breakfast room, rear porch, good basement with laundry, and automatic heater complete the home proper.

Large double garage, with the best of folding rooms (which a child could handle), good shrubbery, east front, lot 50x150—are also factors in making this

Pearl Keller Pupils In Program for Rebekahs

Pearl Keller school presented a program Friday for the Victory Rebekah lodge, No. 329, at the Fraternal Brotherhood hall in Los Angeles for the benefit of the Orphans' Home at Gilroy. Following was the program: Adoration Waltz, Marie Louise Brown and John Blades; eccentric dance, "Raggedy Ann, Raggedy Andy," Eleanor Marek and Adrienne McDade; Russian dance, John Blades; highland fling and eccentric Chinese dance, Nellie Aleshire; mirror dance, Geraldine Keleher; Oriental fantasy, Julia Pelley; Dance "La Parisienne," Marie Louise Brown; jazz dance, Adrienne McDade; Russian and patriotic dances, Cecilia Mae Fischer; buck and wing dance, Eleanor Marek.

Julia Pelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pelley, 2218 Sierra avenue and a pupil of Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art, recently danced in connection with a program put on by Aunt Dolly of the Times at Orthopaedic hospital. Miss Pelley has been invited to join Aunt Dolly's Little Troup of Junior Times Players. She will also dance on November 13 at the "Turkish Tea," to be given at Occidental college in the sorority house.

Georgia Peach Growers Co-operative Selling

ATLANTA, Nov. 11.—Georgia peach growers are forming a statewide co-operative marketing association, which, it is planned, to have handle the entire 1925 yield. This year's crop was the largest and best ever known, but was not financially profitable because markets were glutted.

A wood cut showing an imbecile curate, and entitled "The Lunatic," to illustrate the words, "Outwardly I am a curate; inwardly I am Julius Caesar," a story written twenty years ago aroused a storm of protest when exhibited in a London gallery recently.

DISPLAY STYLES AT FASHION SHOW

Latest Creations In Gowns, Hats, Veils, Coats and Scarfs To Be Seen

Evening gowns, street gowns, modish hats and the latest creations from New York will be shown Friday and Saturday afternoon and night at the fashion show to be held by the Marion Elizabeth Shoppe and Melba-Jeanne Shoppe, both located in Palace Grand arcade, 133 North Brand boulevard, on the stage of the T. D. & L. theatre.

Mrs. Grace G. McCleery, owner of the Marion Elizabeth Shoppe, has arranged for a display of the latest in mid-winter hats, several importations, two of which are expected to arrive from New York tomorrow. Everything from the flapper age to grandmother's time will be shown, along with the latest in veils, and sport, evening and tailored hats.

Living Models

Mrs. Melba Dott Russell, proprietress of the Melba-Jeanne Shoppe, will have the latest afternoon gowns in tarragon, russet, henna, penny brown and other shades; sport dresses in plain and striped flannels; slip-on sweaters; semi-formal creations in Georgette and velvet, trimmed in fur and ostrich; evening gowns in high and pastel; Spanish and Chinese scarfs; coats and wraps with muff cuffs and shawl collars.

Twelve living models will be used, part of them pupils of Miss Bernice Sibeck, Glendale, the others professional models from Los Angeles. The event will also celebrate the first anniversary of the Melba-Jeanne Shoppe, which opened with a fashion show last November. At that time the firm consisted of Mrs. Russell and Jeanne Bosley, but last May Mrs. Russell purchased her partner's interest.

He Died For You And Me!

A pitiful milk bottle is the marker over the grave of the first United States soldier to die in the world war! An international memorial to replace this unsuitable tribute to the first American World war victim is proposed. Beyond question, it is declared, a suitable memorial will be obtained.

WEST GROWS HALF FRUIT U. S. RAISES

California Exchange Body Reports Change Of Diet Favors Commodity

"Fifty per cent of the fruit and vegetables produced in the United States originates west of the Mississippi river," according to Paul S. Armstrong of the advertising department, California Fruit Growers' exchange, Los Angeles, who was a recent visitor to Glendale.

"In the development of a balanced industrial-agricultural era we are now in the Pacific coast is outstanding for the production of food and is known as the market basket of America," he said, "the citrus industry alone supporting 100,000 people.

"Each year is witnessing a tremendous increase in production of foodstuffs on the Pacific coast," he added, in explaining that in 1898 the per capita consumption of lemons was twelve, while in 1924 it is seventeen, an increase of nearly 50 per cent. The change in diet, favoring fruits and vegetables, has caused the per capita consumption of meat to decrease twenty pounds per year per person in the last decade.

Employment Conditions Improve In Penn State

READING, Nov. 11.—The total number of workers in this district has increased 3 per cent and many plants which have been on part time now are fully occupied. The workers on part time now are only 20 per cent of the total employed.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 11.—"Enright and Gresham and Hay!"

How America thrilled that day in November, 1917—just a year before the armistice—when the cables bore the proud tidings that American soldiers were "in"; that the First Division of Pershing's A. E. F., after intensive training in the rear, had taken over its sector of the battlefront; that they had met and repulsed a German trench raid; that Privates Enright and Gresham and Hay, of the Regular army, had been the first three Americans to die on the field of glory.

"Enright and Gresham and Hay!"

The first to die to "make the world safe for democracy."

James Bethel Gresham, believed to have been the first of the trio to make the supreme sacrifice, lived in Evansville.

Today his body, brought back from the battlefields of France, lies in the little Locust Hill cemetery here, marked only by a milk bottle containing the faded writing shown here. He died to make the world safe for democracy; but the note states it just a little differently, even if the intent be the same:

"He died (for) you and me!"

But this neglect of the grave of the first American who "went west" is not to continue. The American Legion post here has undertaken a national crusade to create an international war memorial at the grave, the central figure to be that of Private Gresham.

Each state in the union, and all of the Allied nations alongside whose armies 2,000,000 potential Enrights and Greshams and Hays aligned themselves for that all-powerful drive that ended the World war just one year later, will be asked to participate in the erection of the international monument by adding a memorial to the first man in its own troops to make the supreme sacrifice in Flanders Field and Argonne Wood and on Verdun's slopes and amid the snows of the Vosges.

The milk bottle marker will be replaced—some day.

CONSTIPATION OVERCOME

The use of FOLEY CATHARTIC TABLETS will bring speedy relief from constipation if taken promptly. They are purely vegetable and act on the liver. Mr. John D. McComb, Lucas Co. Home, Toledo, Ohi , writes· "Have used Foley CATHARTIC TABLETS in severe cases of constipation to which I am subject and found them beneficial." FOLEY CATHARTIC TABLETS are easy to take, leave no unpleasant after effects. Try them.

NORTHWEST CROP IN RECORD SHAPE

Bank Official Returns From Wheat Belt With Report Of Conditions

Glendale people who have interests in the hard wheat belt of the great northwest soon will be able to convert into assets what have been liabilities for the past three or four years. This was the prediction made today by R. F. Kitterman, vice-president and manager of the Glendale Security bank.

Mr. Kitterman said he based his prediction on an interview he had recently with J. J. Feckler, assistant vice-president of the Security bank, who has returned from the states in the northwest.

"Mr. Feckler informed me," said Mr. Kitterman, "that never before has there been such general optimism in the hard wheat country as at the present. With good crops and good prices, farmers are prospering and making payments on interest, mortgages and taxes which have been delinquent now for several years. Bank deposits in many instances in the wheat country have reached the peak attained in 1920; realty prices are firm and mortgage companies reentering the territory."

Some horses will jump an obstruction eight feet high.

St. Louis Territory Reflect Improvement

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—The tone of the general business in this territory has improved and outlets widened since election. Steel mills are on better schedules with an increased number of unfilled orders. Makers of women's clothing complained of inability to get materials fast enough. Seasonally warm weather has slackened retail trade, but this has been overcome partly by increased advertising.
